

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

ARTICLE IX.

1. The parcels shall be considered as forming a distinct part of the mails exchanged DIRECTLY between the United States and Martinique, to be dispatched to the country of destination by the country of origin at its cost, and by such means as it provides. They must be forwarded, at the option of the dispatching office, either in boxes or baskets prepared expressly for the purpose, or in ordinary mail sacks, marked "Parcel Post"; "Colis Postaux", and securely sealed with wax, or otherwise, as may be mutually agreed upon.

2. Each country shall promptly return EMPTY to the dispatching office by next mail all such receptacles; unless some other arrangement shall be mutually agreed to.

ARTICLE X.

Each dispatch of a Parcel Post mail must be accompanied by a descriptive list, in duplicate, of all the parcels sent, showing distinctly the number of each parcel, the office of origin, the name of the addressee with address of destination, and the declared contents and value. 2. In the event of a parcel bill not having been received, a substitute should be at once prepared.

3. Any errors in the entries on the parcel bill which may be discovered should, after verification by a second officer, be corrected and noted for report to the dispatching office on a form, "Bulletin of Verification," which should be sent in a special envelope.

ARTICLE IX.

1. Les colis feront l'objet de dépêches distinctes à échanger DIRECTEMENT entre la Martinique et les Etats-Unis. Le pays d'origine doit expédier ses dépêches au pays de destination à ses frais et par les moyens dont il dispose. Les colis doivent être transmis au gré de l'office expéditeur, soit dans des boîtes ou paniers spécialement construits à cet effet, soit dans des sacs à dépêches ordinaires portant la mention "Parcel Post," "Colis-Postaux" et clos soigneusement à l'aide de cachets à la cire ou autrement, suivant ce qui pourra être mutuellement convenu par les parties contractantes.

If within two months of the dispatch of the notice of non-delivery the office of destination shall not have received instructions from the sender, the parcel shall be returned to its origin.
Reforwarding, etc.	3. Parcels redirected from one country to the other, or parcels returned at the sender's request, incur a supplementary charge on the basis of the rates fixed by Article V, which may be collected in advance or on delivery as convenient. Parcels forwarded from one address to another in the country of destination are subject to such additional charges as the domestic regulations of that country prescribe.

ARTICLE XII.

1. Tout colis reçu en fausse direction est immédiatement retourné au bureau d'échange expéditeur. L'erreur est signalée au moyen d'un bulletin de vérification.

Si, dans un délai de deux mois à partir de l'expédition de l'avis de non remise, le bureau de destination n'a pas reçu les instructions de l'expéditeur, le colis est renvoyé à l'origine.
3. Les colis réexpédiés d'un pays à l'autre ou retournés à la demande de l'expéditeur sont passibles d'un droit supplémentaire à percevoir sur la base des taxes fixées par l'article V, lequel droit pourra être perçu d'avance ou à la livraison, selon qu'on le jugera convenable. Les colis réexpédiés d'une adresse à l'autre dans le pays de destination sont passibles des droits supplémentaires prescrits par les règlements intérieurs de ce pays.

4. Articles which it has not been possible to deliver and which are liable to deterioration or corruption may, however, be sold immediately, without previous notice or legal formality, for the benefit of the person entitled thereto, the particulars of the sale being reported by one Administration to the other. The proceeds of the sale shall be devoted to paying the charges on the parcel; the remainder, if any, shall be sent to the office of origin to be paid to the sender. If for any reason a sale is impossible the spoilt or worthless articles are destroyed or handed over to the customs.

5. With the reservation that the formalities prescribed for Administrative reasons by the Administrations concerned be complied with, the customs duties on parcels which have to be sent back to the country of origin or redirected to a third country shall be canceled both in the United States and Martinique.

ARTICLE XIII.

Neither of the contracting Administrations will be responsible for the loss or damage of any parcel, consequently no indemnity can be claimed by the sender or addressee in either country.

ARTICLE XIV.

1. The stipulations of the present Convention apply exclusively to the articles herein mentioned, mailed in or destined for Martinique on the one side and the United States and its possessions on the other side, and dispatched on the one side to the Custom House at Fort-de-France from the office of New York and San Juan, P. BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND GUADE-

CONVENTION POUR
L'ÉCHANGE DES COLIS
POSTAUX ENTRE LES
ETATS UNIS D'AMÉRIQUE
ET LA GUADELOUPE.

With the view to improve the postal relations between the United States of America and Guadeloupe, the undersigned, Frank H. Hitchcock, Postmaster General of the United States of America, and J. J. Jusserand, Ambassador of the French Republic to the United States, by virtue of the authority vested in them have agreed upon the following articles for the establishment of a parcel post system of exchange between the two countries.

Dans le but d'améliorer les relations postales entre les Etats-Unis d'Amérique et la Guadeloupe, les soussignés Frank H. Hitchcock, Postmaster General des Etats-Unis d'Amérique, et J. J. Jusserand, Ambassadeur de la République française aux Etats-Unis, ont, en vertu des pouvoirs qui leur sont conférés, arrêté les dispositions ci-après, à l'effet d'établir un système d'échange de colis postaux entre les deux pays.

Parcel post with Guadeloupe.
Preamble.

ARTICLE I.

The provisions of this Convention relate only to parcels of mail matter to be exchanged by the system herein provided for, and do not affect the arrangements now existing under the Universal Postal Convention, which will continue as heretofore; and all the provisions hereinafter contained apply exclusively to mails exchanged under this Convention.

ARTICLE I.

Les dispositions de la présente Convention s'appliquent exclusivement à l'échange des colis postaux suivant les règles qu'elle établit. Elles ne modifient rien aux arrangements actuellement existants en vertu de la convention postale universelle, lesquels continuent à être en vigueur; toutes les dispositions qui suivent visent uniquement les envois échangés en vertu des articles de la présente Convention.

Scope of convention.

ARTICLE II.

1. With the exception of the articles specifically prohibited by Article III, there shall be admitted to the parcel mails all articles which are admitted to the mails under any conditions in the domestic service of the country of origin and the country of destination. No parcel may, however, exceed 5 kilograms or 11 pounds in weight, nor the

1. À l'exception des objets formellement prohibés par l'article III, peuvent être échangés aux conditions de la présente Convention les marchandises et tous autres objets postaux qui sont admis, dans des conditions quelconques, à l'expédition dans le service intérieur du pays d'origine et du pays de destination. Toutefois aucun colis ne peut peser plus following dimensions: greatest length in any direction, three feet six inches (1 meter 5 centimeters); greatest length and girth combined, six feet (1 meter 80 centimeters).

Address, etc.

2. Every parcel must bear the exact address of the addressee and must be packed in a manner adequate for the length of the journey and the protection of its contents. The packing must be of such a nature as to permit the contents to be easily examined by officers of the Post Office or the Customs.

ARTICLE III.

Articles prohibited.

1. The following articles are prohibited: Parcels containing letters, or communications of the nature of personal correspondence (it is permitted, however, to include in the parcel an open invoice or bill in its simplest form); live animals, except bees in properly constructed boxes; dead animals, except insects and reptiles when thoroughly dried; fruits and vegetables which easily decompose; publications which violate the copyright laws of the country of destination; poisons, and explosive or inflammable substances; liquids and substances which easily liquefy; lottery tickets, lottery advertisements, or lottery circulars; all obscene or immoral articles; or articles the admission of which is not authorized by the customs or other laws or regulations of either country; and, in general, articles the conveyance of which is reputed dangerous.

Disposition of un-mailable parcels.

2. If a parcel contravening any of these prohibitions or not conforming to the stipulations of Article II be handed over by one Administration to the other, the latter shall proceed in the manner and with the formalities prescribed by its law or domestic regulations.

de 5 kilogrammes (11 livres); en outre, aucun colis ne pourra excéder les dimensions suivantes; longueur maxima en un sens quelconque, 1 mètre 05 (trois pieds six pouces); longueur maxima et circonférence combinées, 1 m. 80 (six pieds).

2. Chaque colis doit porter l'adresse exacte du destinataire et doit être emballé d'une manière qui réponde à la durée du transport et qui préserve suffisamment le contenu. L'emballage doit être conditionné de façon à permettre aux agents des douanes ou des postes de vérifier facilement le contenu.

ARTICLE III.

1. Sont exclus du transport: Les colis renfermant des lettres ou communications ayant le caractère de correspondance personnelle (il est permis, toutefois, d'insérer dans l'envoi la facture ouverte dans sa forme la plus simple); des animaux vivants, sauf des abeilles dans des boîtes convenablement aménagées; des animaux morts, sauf des insectes et des reptiles complètement desséchés; des fruits et des végétaux qui se décomposent facilement; des publications qui violent les lois sur la propriété littéraire en vigueur dans le pays de destination; des poisons et des matières explosives ou inflammables; des substances liquides ou facilement liquéfiables; des billets, annonces ou circulaires relatifs à des loteries; tous objets obscènes ou contraires aux bonnes mœurs; tous objets dont l'admission n'est pas autorisée par les lois douanières ou autres et par les règlements de l'un ou l'autre pays, et en général, tous les objets dont le transport est réputé dangereux.

2. Dans le cas où un colis tombant sous ces prohibitions ou non conforme aux dispositions de l'art. II est livré par l'une des Administrations à l'autre, celle-ci procède de la manière et dans les formes prévues par sa législation et par ses règlements intérieurs.

3. All admissible articles of merchandise mailed in one country for the other, or received in one country from the other, shall be free from any detention or inspection whatever, except such as is required for collection of customs duties; and shall be forwarded by the most speedy means to their destination, being subject in their transmission to the laws and regulations of each country respectively.

3. Toutes les marchandises admises par le présente Convention et déposées dans un pays à destination de l'autre ou reçues dans un pays en provenance de l'autre, ne pourront être retenues ou examinées, sauf autant qu'il sera nécessaire pour la perception des droits de douane. Elles seront acheminées par les moyens les plus rapides sur leur destination et seront soumises quant à leur transmission, aux lois et règlements respectifs de chaque pays.

ARTICLE IV.

No parcel may contain packages intended for delivery at an address other than that borne by the parcel itself. If such inclosed packages be detected they must be sent forward singly, charged with new and distinct parcel post rates.

ARTICLE IV.

Aucun colis ne peut renfermer des paquets destinés à être livrés à une adresse autre que celle portée sur le colis même. Si des paquets de ce genre sont découverts, ils sont acheminés individuellement et une taxe nouvelle et distincte leur est appliquée conformément au tarif de colis postaux.

No inclosures for other address.

ARTICLE V.

1. The following rates of postage must in all cases be fully prepaid, viz:

2. In the United States for a parcel not exceeding one pound in weight, 12 cents; and for each additional pound or fraction of a pound, 12 cents.

3. In Guadeloupe and its Dependencies 2 francs for every parcel not exceeding 3 kilograms, and for every parcel exceeding 3 kilograms, up to 5 kilograms (maximum) 3.50 francs.

4. The parcel shall be promptly delivered to addressees in accordance with the domestic regulations of the country of destination, free of charge for postage; but the country of destination may, at its option, levy and collect from the addressee, for domestic service and delivery, a charge, the amount of which is to be fixed according to its own regulations, but which shall in no case exceed in the United States five cents, and in Guadeloupe 25 centimes, for each parcel whatever its weight.

1. L'affranchissement des colis postaux est obligatoire. Les taxes à payer au départ sont les suivantes:

2. Aux Etats-Unis, pour un colis ne pesant pas plus d'une livre, 12 cents; pour chaque livre additionnelle ou fraction de livre, 12 cents.

3. À la Guadeloupe et dans ses Dépendances, 2 francs pour tout colis n'excédant pas 3 kilogrammes et pour tout colis au dessus de 3 kilogrammes jusqu'à 5 kilogrammes (maximum) 3.50 francs.

4. Les colis sont promptement livrés aux destinataires, conformément aux règlements intérieurs du pays de destination, en franchise de tous frais de transport. Cependant, le pays de destination peut, à son gré, percevoir du destinataire, pour service intérieur et distribution, une taxe à déterminer par ses propres règlements, mais qui, en aucun cas ne dépassera pas cinq cents aux Etats-Unis et 25 centimes à la Guadeloupe pour chaque colis quel que soit son poids.

5. Chaque colis est soumis, dans le pays de destination, à tous droits et à tous règlements de douane en vigueur dans ce pays pour assurer la perception de ses recettes douanières; les droits de douane et autres, régulièrement dûs sont perçus à la livraison, conformément aux règlements du pays de destination.

ARTICLE VI.

L'expéditeur peut, au moment du dépôt, obtenir un récépissé sur une formule ad hoc, conforme ou analogue à la formule 1 ci-jointe.

ARTICLE VII.

1. L'expéditeur doit établir pour chaque colis une déclaration en douane en double expédition sur une formule spéciale fournie à cet effet (voir la formule 2 ci-annexée); il collera ces deux copies sur le colis même ou les fixera à ce dernier. Cette déclaration donnera une description générale du colis, l'indication exacte de son contenu, sa valeur, la date du dépôt, la signature et la résidence de l'expéditeur, et le lieu de destination.

2. Les Administrations contractantes déclinent toute responsabilité quant à l'exactitude des déclarations en douane.

Chaque pays conserve à son profit la totalité des taxes de transport, et de factage qu'il perçoit sur les colis postaux; conséquemment la présente Convention ne donne pas lieu à l'établissement de comptes spéciaux entre les deux pays.

ARTICLE IX.

1. Les colis feront l'objet de dépêches distinctes à échanger DIRECTEMENT entre la Guadeloupe et les Etats-Unis. Le pays d'origine doit expédier ses dépêches au pays de destination à ses frais et par les moyens dont il dispose. Les colis doivent être

2. Each country shall promptly return EMPTY to the dispatching office by next mail all such receptacles; unless some other arrangement shall be mutually agreed to.

ARTICLE X.

Each dispatch of a parcel post mail must be accompanied by a descriptive list, in duplicate, of all the parcels sent, showing distinctly the number of each parcel, the office of origin, the name of the addressee with address of destination, and the declared contents and value. This list (see Form 3 annexed hereto) must be enclosed in one of the receptacles composing the mail.

2. Chaque pays renverra au bureau expéditeur par le plus prochain courrier tous ces récipients VIDES, sauf arrangement contraire à intervenir à ce sujet.

ARTICLE X.

Chaque envoi de colis postaux doit être accompagné d'une feuille de route descriptive, en double exemplaire, mentionnant tous les colis expédiés, leur numéro d'ordre, le bureau d'origine, le nom et l'adresse du destinataire, la déclaration du contenu et de la valeur. Cette liste, conforme à la formule No. 3 ci-jointe, doit être insérée dans l'un des récipients composant la dépêche.

ARTICLE XI.

1. Des que la dépêche parvient au bureau de destination, celui-ci en vérifie le contenu.

2. Si la feuille de route n'est pas jointe, il en est établi une d'office immédiatement.

3. Toutes les erreurs dans les inscriptions de la feuille de route qui viendraient à être découvertes, seront, après vérification par un second agent, rectifiées et annotées pour être signalées au bureau expéditeur au moyen d'un "Bulletin de Vérification" envoyé sous enveloppe spéciale.

4. Si un colis inscrit sur la feuille de route n'est pas parvenu, après que le manquant a été constaté par un second agent, l'inscription sur la feuille sera annulée et le fait immédiatement signalé.

If a parcel be observed to be insufficiently prepaid, it must not be taxed with deficient postage, but the circumstances must be reported on the bulletin of verification form.	5. S'il est constaté qu'un colis est insuffisamment affranchi, il n'est pas suppléé à l'insuffisance de l'affranchissement, mais le fait est signalé par bulletin de vérification.
Damaged parcels.	6. Should a parcel be received in a damaged or imperfect condition, full particulars should be reported on the same form to the office which made up the mail.	6. Si un colis parvient avarié ou mal conditionné, l'avarie ou le mauvais conditionnement sont signalés d'une manière détaillée au moyen de la même formule au bureau qui a formé l'envoi.

If no bulletin of verification or note of error be received, a parcel mail shall be considered as duly delivered, having been found on examination correct in all respects.	7. Si celui-ci ne reçoit ni bulletin de vérification, ni avis d'irrégularité, il considère l'envoi comme régulier sous tous les rapports et comme valablement livré.

Tout colis reçu en fausse direction est immédiatement retourné au bureau d'échange expéditeur. L'erreur est signalée au moyen d'un bulletin de vérification.
Inability to deliver.	2. If a parcel can not be delivered as addressed or is refused by the addressee, the sender shall be consulted (through the Administration of the country of origin) as to its disposal. If within two months of the dispatch of the notice of nondelivery the office of destination shall not have received instructions from the sender, the parcel shall be returned to its origin.	2. L'expéditeur d'un colis qui ne peut être livré à son adresse ou qui est refusé par le destinataire doit être consulté (par l'intermédiaire de l'Administration du pays d'origine) sur la manière dont il entend en disposer. Les colis réexpédiés d'une adresse à l'autre dans le pays de destination sont passibles des droits supplémentaires prescrits par les règlements intérieurs de ce pays.

Si pour une raison quelconque la vente est impossible les objets avariés ou devenus sans valeur sont détruits ou livrés à la douane.

5. Sous réserve de l'accomplissement des formalités prescrites, à titre de mesures de contrôle par les administrations intéressées, les droits de douane appliqués aux colis à renvoyer au pays d'origine ou à réexpédier sur un autre pays sont annulés aussi bien à la Guadeloupe qu'aux Etats-Unis.

Lesquels, après s'être communiqué leurs pleins pouvoirs respectifs, trouvés en bonne et due forme, sont convenus des articles suivants:

ARTICLE PREMIER.

Les pays contractants sont constitués à l'état d'Union pour la protection de la propriété industrielle. Union constituted.

ARTICLE 2.

Les sujets ou citoyens de chacun des pays contractants jouiront, dans tous les autres pays de l'Union, en ce qui concerne les brevets d'invention, les modèles d'utilité, les dessins ou modèles industriels, les marques de fabrique ou de commerce, le nom commercial, les indications de provenance, la répression de la concurrence déloyale, des avantages que les lois respectives accordent actuellement ou accorderont par la suite aux nationaux. En conséquence, ils auront la même protection que ceux-ci et le même recours légal contre toute atteinte portée à leurs droits, sous réserve de l'accomplissement des conditions et formalités imposées aux nationaux. Aucune obligation de domicile ou d'établissement dans le pays où la protection est réclamée ne pourra être imposée aux ressortissants de l'Union. Reciprocal protection of patents, trade marks, etc., guaranteed.

Domicile not required.

ARTICLE 3.

Sont assimilés aux sujets ou citoyens des pays contractants, les sujets ou citoyens des pays ne faisant pas partie de l'Union, qui sont domiciliés ou ont des établissements industriels ou commerciaux effectifs et sérieux sur le territoire de l'un des pays de l'Union. Rights of residents not citizens of contracting countries.

ARTICLE 4.

(a) Celui qui aura régulièrement fait le dépôt d'une demande de brevet d'invention, d'un modèle d'utilité, d'un dessin ou modèle industriel, d'une marque de fabrique ou de commerce, dans l'un des pays contractants, ou son ayant cause, jouira, pour effectuer le dépôt Rights of priority in contracting countries.

- dans les autres pays, et sous réserve des droits des tiers, d'un droit de priorité pendant les délais déterminés ci-après.
- Effect. (b) En conséquence, le dépôt ultérieurement opéré dans l'un des autres pays de l'Union, avant l'expiration de ces délais, ne pourra être invalidé par des faits accomplis dans l'intervalle, soit, notamment, par un autre dépôt, par la publication de l'invention ou son exploitation, par la mise en vente d'exemplaires du dessin ou du modèle, par l'emploi de la marque.
- Period. (c) Les délais de priorité mentionnés ci-dessus seront de douze mois pour les brevets d'invention et les modèles d'utilité, et de quatre mois pour les dessins et modèles industriels et pour les marques de fabrique ou de commerce.
- Declaration required. (d) Quiconque voudra se prévaloir de la priorité d'un dépôt antérieur, sera tenu de faire une déclaration indiquant la date et le pays de ce dépôt. Chaque pays déterminera à quel moment, au plus tard, cette déclaration devra être effectuée. Ces indications seront mentionnées dans les publications émanant de l'Administration compétente, notamment sur les brevets et les descriptions y relatives. Les pays contractants pourront exiger de celui qui fait une déclaration de priorité la production d'une copie de la demande (description, dessins, etc.) déposée antérieurement, certifiée conforme par l'Administration qui l'aura reçue. Cette copie sera dispensée de toute légalisation. On pourra exiger qu'elle soit accompagnée d'un certificat de la date du dépôt, émanant de cette Administration, et d'une traduction. D'autres formalités ne pourront être requises pour la déclaration de priorité au moment du dépôt de la demande. Chaque pays contractant déterminera les conséquences de l'omission des formalités prévues par le présent article, sans que ces conséquences puissent excéder la perte du droit de priorité.
- Further requirements. (e) Ultérieurement d'autres justifications pourront être demandées,

ARTICLE 4 bis.

Independence of patents applied for.

Les brevets demandés dans les différents pays contractants par des personnes admises au bénéfice de la Convention aux termes des articles 2 et 3, seront indépendants des brevets obtenus pour la même invention dans les autres pays, adhérents ou non à l'Union.

Cette disposition doit s'entendre d'une façon absolue, notamment en ce sens que les brevets demandés pendant le délai de priorité sont indépendants, tant au point de vue des causes de nullité et de déchéance, qu'au point de vue de la durée normale.

Elle s'applique à tous les brevets existant au moment de sa mise en vigueur.

Il en sera de même, en cas d'accession de nouveaux pays, pour les brevets existant de part et d'autre au moment de l'accession.

ARTICLE 5.

Introductions by patents.

L'introduction, par le breveté, dans le pays où le brevet a été délivré, d'objets fabriqués dans l'un ou l'autre des pays de l'Union, n'entraînera pas la déchéance.

Compliance with laws as to working of patent.

Toutefois, le breveté restera soumis à l'obligation d'exploiter son brevet conformément aux lois du pays où il introduit les objets brevetés, mais avec la restriction que le brevet ne pourra être frappé de déchéance pour cause de nonexploitation dans un des pays de l'Union qu'après un délai de trois ans, compté à partir du dépôt de la demande dans ce pays, et seulement dans le cas où le breveté ne justifierait pas des causes de son inaction.

ARTICLE 6.

Toute marque de fabrique ou de commerce régulièrement enregistrée dans le pays d'origine sera admise au dépôt et protégée telle quelle dans les autres pays de l'Union. Trade mark registration.

Toutefois, pourront être refusées ou invalidées: Restrictions.

1°. Les marques qui sont de nature à porter atteinte à des droits acquis par des tiers dans le pays où la protection est réclamée.

2°. Les marques dépourvues de tout caractère distinctif, ou bien composées exclusivement de signes ou d'indications pouvant servir, dans le commerce, pour désigner l'espèce, la qualité, la quantité, la destination, la valeur, le lieu d'origine des produits ou l'époque de production, ou devenus usuels dans le langage courant ou les habitudes loyales et constantes du commerce du pays où la protection est réclamée.

Dans l'appréciation du caractère distinctif d'une marque, on devra tenir compte de toutes les circonstances de fait, notamment de la durée de l'usage de la marque.

3°. Les marques qui sont contraires à la morale ou à l'ordre public. Country of origin defined.

Sera considéré comme pays d'origine le pays où le déposant a son principal établissement.

Si ce principal établissement n'est point situé dans un des pays de l'Union, sera considéré comme pays d'origine celui auquel appartient le déposant.

ARTICLE 7.

La nature du produit sur lequel la marque de fabrique ou de commerce doit être apposée ne peut, dans aucun cas, faire obstacle au dépôt de la marque. Nature of product.

ARTICLE 7 bis.

Les pays contractants s'engagent à admettre au dépôt et à protéger les marques appartenant à des collectivités dont l'existence n'est pas contraire à la loi du pays d'origine, même si ces collectivités ne possèdent pas un établissement industriel ou commercial. Marks of lawful associations.

Cependant chaque pays sera juge des conditions particulières sous lesquelles une collectivité pourra être admise à faire protéger ses marques.

ARTICLE 8.

Le nom commercial sera protégé dans tous les pays de l'Union sans obligation de dépôt, qu'il fasse ou non partie d'une marque de fabrique ou de commerce. Trade names.

ARTICLE 9.

Tout produit portant illicitement une marque de fabrique ou de commerce, ou un nom commercial, sera saisi à l'importation dans ceux des pays de l'Union dans lesquels cette marque ou ce nom commercial ont droit à la protection légale. Seizure, etc., of articles illegally marked.

Si la législation d'un pays n'admet pas la saisie à l'importation, la saisie sera remplacée par la prohibition d'importation.

La saisie sera également effectuée dans le pays où l'apposition illicite aura eu lieu, ou dans le pays où aura été importé le produit.

La saisie aura lieu à la requête soit du ministère public, soit de toute autre autorité compétente, soit d'une partie intéressée, particulier ou société, conformément à la législation intérieure de chaque pays.

Les autorités ne seront pas tenues d'effectuer la saisie en cas de transit.

Si la législation d'un pays n'admet ni la saisie à l'importation, ni la prohibition d'importation, ni la saisie à l'intérieur, ces mesures seront remplacées par les actions et moyens que la loi de ce pays assurerait en pareil cas aux nationaux.

ARTICLE 10.

Application.

Les dispositions de l'article précédent seront applicables à tout produit portant faussement, comme indication de provenance, le nom d'une localité déterminée, lorsque cette indication sera jointe à un nom commercial fictif ou emprunté dans une intention frauduleuse.

Est réputé partie intéressée tout producteur, fabricant ou commerçant, engagé dans la production, la fabrication ou le commerce de ce produit, et établi soit dans la localité faussement indiquée comme lieu de provenance, soit dans la région où cette localité est située.

ARTICLE 10 bis.

Protection against unfair competition.

Tous les pays contractants s'engagent à assurer aux ressortissants de l'Union une protection effective contre la concurrence déloyale.

ARTICLE 11.

Temporary protection at international exhibitions.

Les pays contractants accorderont, conformément à leur législation intérieure, une protection temporaire aux inventions brevetables, aux modèles d'utilité, aux dessins ou modèles industriels, ainsi qu'aux marques de fabrique ou de commerce, pour les produits qui figureront aux expositions internationales officielles ou officiellement reconnues, organisées sur le territoire de l'un d'eux.

ARTICLE 12.

Industrial property service.

Chacun des pays contractants s'engage à établir un service spécial de la Propriété industrielle et un dépôt central pour la communication au public des brevets d'invention, des modèles d'utilité, des dessins ou modèles industriels et des marques de fabrique ou de commerce.

Official publication.

Ce service publiera, autant que possible, une feuille périodique officielle.

ARTICLE 13.

International Bureau at Berne.

L'Office international institué à Berne sous le nom de Bureau international pour la protection de la Propriété industrielle est placé sous la haute autorité du Gouvernement de la Confédération suisse, qui en règle l'organisation et en surveille le fonctionnement.

Functions.

Le Bureau international centralisera les renseignements de toute nature relatifs à la protection de la Propriété industrielle, et les réunira en une statistique générale, qui sera distribuée à toutes les Administrations. Il procédera aux études d'utilité commune intéressant l'Union et rédigera, à l'aide des documents qui seront mis à sa disposition par les diverses Administrations, une feuille périodique en langue française sur les questions concernant l'objet de l'Union.

Distribution of publications.

Les numéros de cette feuille, de même que tous les documents publiés par le Bureau international, seront répartis entre les Administrations des pays de l'Union, dans la proportion du nombre des unités contributives ci-dessous mentionnées. Les exemplaires et documents supplémentaires qui seraient réclamés, soit par lesdites Administrations, soit par des sociétés ou des particuliers, seront payés à part.

Le Bureau international devra se tenir en tout temps à la disposition des membres de l'Union, pour leur fournir, sur les questions relatives au service international de la propriété industrielle, les renseignements spéciaux dont ils pourraient avoir besoin. Il fera sur sa gestion un rapport annuel qui sera communiqué à tous les membres de l'Union.

Special service.

La langue officielle du Bureau international sera la langue française.

Official language.

Les dépenses du Bureau international seront supportées en commun par les pays contractants. Elles ne pourront, en aucun cas, dépasser la somme de soixante mille francs par année.

Expenses.

Pour déterminer la part contributive de chacun des pays dans cette somme totale, des frais, les pays contractants et ceux qui adhèreraient ultérieurement à l'Union seront divisés en six classes, contribuant chacune dans la proportion d'un certain nombre d'unités, savoir:

Determination of quota.

	Unité.
1 ^{re} classe	25
2 ^e classe	20
3 ^e classe	15
4 ^e classe	10
5 ^e classe	5
6 ^e classe	3

Ces coefficients seront multipliés par le nombre des pays de chaque classe, et la somme des produits ainsi obtenus fournira le nombre d'unités par lequel la dépense totale doit être divisée. Le quotient donnera le montant de l'unité de dépense.

Chacun des pays contractants désignera, au moment de son accession, la classe dans laquelle il désire être rangé.

Le Gouvernement de la Confédération suisse surveillera les dépenses du Bureau international, fera les avances nécessaires et établira le compte annuel, qui sera communiqué à toutes les autres Administrations.

ARTICLE 14.

La présente Convention sera soumise à des revisions périodiques, en vue d'y introduire les améliorations de nature à perfectionner le système de l'Union.

Revision.

À cet effet, des Conférences auront lieu, successivement, dans l'un des pays contractants entre les Délégués desdits pays.

L'Administration du pays où doit siéger la Conférence préparera, avec le concours du Bureau international, les travaux de cette Conférence.

Le Directeur du Bureau international assistera aux séances des Conférences, et prendra part aux discussions sans voix délibérative.

ARTICLE 15.

Il est entendu que les pays contractants se réservent respectivement le droit de prendre séparément, entre eux, des arrangements particuliers pour la protection de la Propriété industrielle, en tant que ces arrangements ne contreviendraient point aux dispositions de la présente Convention.

Reservation of special arrangements.

ARTICLE 16.

Adhesion of nonparticipating countries.

Les pays qui n'ont point pris part à la présente Convention seront admis à y adhérer sur leur demande.

Cette adhésion sera notifiée par la voie diplomatique au Gouvernement de la Confédération suisse, et par celui-ci à tous les autres.

Elle emportera, de plein droit, accession à toutes les clauses et admission à tous les avantages stipulés par la présente Convention, et produira ses effets un mois après l'envoi de la notification faite par le Gouvernement de la Confédération suisse aux autres pays unionistes, à moins qu'une date postérieure n'ait été indiquée par le pays adhérent.

ARTICLE 16 bis.

Accession of colonies, etc.

Les pays contractants ont le droit d'accéder en tout temps à la présente Convention pour leurs colonies, possessions, dépendances et protectorats, ou pour certains d'entre eux.

Ils peuvent à cet effet soit faire une déclaration générale par laquelle toutes leurs colonies, possessions, dépendances et protectorats sont compris dans l'accession, soit nommer expressément ceux qui y sont compris, soit se borner à indiquer ceux qui en sont exclus.

Cette déclaration sera notifiée par écrit au Gouvernement de la Confédération suisse, et par celui-ci à tous les autres.

Les pays contractants pourront, dans les mêmes conditions, dénoncer la Convention pour leurs colonies, possessions, dépendances et protectorats, ou pour certains d'entre eux.

ARTICLE 17.

Legislation.

L'exécution des engagements réciproques contenus dans la présente Convention est subordonnée, en tant que de besoin, à l'accomplissement des formalités et règles établies par les lois constitutionnelles de ceux des pays contractants qui sont tenus d'en provoquer l'application, ce qu'ils s'obligent à faire dans le plus bref délai possible.

ARTICLE 17 bis.

Duration.

La Convention demeurera en vigueur pendant un temps indéterminé, jusqu'à l'expiration d'une année à partir du jour où la dénonciation en sera faite.

Denunciation.

Cette dénonciation sera adressée au Gouvernement de la Confédération suisse. Elle ne produira son effet qu'à l'égard du pays qui l'aura faite, la Convention restant exécutoire pour les autres pays contractants.

ARTICLE 18.

Ratification.

Le présent Acte sera ratifié, et les ratifications en seront déposées à Washington au plus tard le 1^{er} avril 1913. Il sera mis à exécution, entre les pays qui l'auront ratifié, un mois après l'expiration de ce délai.

Former agreements superseded.
Vol. 25, p. 1372.
Vol. 27, p. 958.

Toutefois, les Actes précités resteront en vigueur dans les rapports avec les pays qui n'auront pas ratifié le présent Acte.

Final protocol.

PROTOCOLE DE CLÔTURE.

Au moment de procéder à la signature de l'Acte conclu à la date de ce jour, les Plénipotentiaires soussignés sont convenus de ce qui suit:

AD ARTICLE PREMIER.

Industrial property construed.

Les mots "Propriété industrielle" doivent être pris dans leur acception la plus large; ils s'étendent à toute production du domaine des industries agricoles (vins, grains, fruits, bestiaux, etc.), et extractives (minéraux, eaux minérales, etc.).

AD ARTICLE 2.

Patents.
Processes included.
Ante, p. 1649.

(a) Sous le nom de brevets d'invention sont comprises les diverses espèces de brevets industriels admises par les législations des pays contractants, telles que brevets d'importation, brevets de perfectionnement, etc., tant pour les procédés que pour les produits.

Domicile.

(b) Il est entendu que la disposition de l'article 2 qui dispense les ressortissants de l'Union de l'obligation de domicile et d'établissement a un caractère interprétatif, et doit, par conséquent, s'appliquer à tous les droits nés en raison de la Convention du 20 mars 1883, avant la mise en vigueur du présent Acte.

Laws of procedure.

(c) Il est entendu que les dispositions de l'article 2 ne portent aucune atteinte à la législation de chacun des pays contractants, en ce qui concerne la procédure suivie devant les tribunaux et la compétence de ces tribunaux, ainsi que l'élection de domicile ou la constitution d'un mandataire requises par les lois sur les brevets, les modèles d'utilité, les marques, etc.

AD ARTICLE 4.

Models.
Ante, p. 1649.

Il est entendu que, lorsqu'un dessin ou modèle industriel aura été déposé dans un pays en vertu d'un droit de priorité basé sur le dépôt d'un modèle d'utilité, le délai de priorité ne sera que celui que l'article 4 a fixé pour les dessins et modèles industriels.

AD ARTICLE 6.

Trade marks.
Ante, p. 1651.

Il est entendu que la disposition du premier alinéa de l'article 6 n'exclut pas le droit d'exiger du déposant un certificat d'enregistrement régulier au pays d'origine, délivré par l'autorité compétente.

Il est entendu que l'usage des armoiries, insignes ou décorations publiques qui n'aurait pas été autorisé par les pouvoirs compétents, ou l'emploi des signes et poinçons officiels de contrôle et de garantie adoptés par un pays unioniste, peut être considéré comme contraire à l'ordre public dans le sens du No. 3 de l'article 6.

Ne seront, toutefois, pas considérées comme contraires à l'ordre public les marques qui contiennent, avec l'autorisation des pouvoirs compétents, la reproduction d'armoiries, de décorations ou d'insignes publics.

Il est entendu qu'une marque ne pourra être considérée comme contraire à l'ordre public pour la seule raison qu'elle n'est pas conforme à quelque disposition de la législation sur les marques, sauf le cas où cette disposition elle-même concerne l'ordre public.

Le présent Protocole de clôture, qui sera ratifié en même temps que l'Acte conclu à la date de ce jour, sera considéré comme faisant partie intégrante de cet Acte, et aura même force, valeur et durée.

EN FOI DE QUOI, les Plénipotentiaires respectifs ont signé le présent Protocole. Signatures.

ARTICLE 1.

Union constituted.

The contracting countries constitute a state of Union for the protection of industrial property.

ARTICLE 2.

Reciprocal protection of patents, trademarks, etc., guaranteed.

The subjects or citizens of each of the contracting countries shall enjoy, in all the other countries of the Union, with regard to patents of invention, models of utility, industrial designs or models, trademarks, trade names, the statements of place of origin, suppression of unfair competition, the advantages which the respective laws now grant or may hereafter grant to the citizens of that country. Consequently, they shall have the same protection as the latter and the same legal remedies against any infringements of their rights, provided they comply with the formalities and requirements imposed by the National laws of each State upon its own citizens. Any obligation of domicile or of establishment in the country where the protection is claimed shall not be imposed on the members of the Union.

Domicile not required.

ARTICLE 3.

The subjects or citizens of countries which do not form part of the Union, who are domiciled or own effective and bona fide industrial or commercial establishments in the territory of any of the countries of the Union, shall be assimilated to the subjects or citizens of the contracting countries.

Rights of residents not of citizens of adhering countries.

ARTICLE 4.

(a) Any person who shall have duly filed an application for a patent, utility model, industrial design or model, or trademark, in one of the contracting countries, or the successor or assignee of such person shall enjoy, for the purpose of filing application in the other countries, and subject to the rights of third parties, a right of priority during the periods hereinafter specified.

Rights of priority in contracting countries.

(b) Consequently, the subsequent filing in one of the other countries of the Union, prior to the expiration of such periods, shall not be invalidated by acts performed in the interval, especially, by another application, by publication of the invention or the working of the same, by the sale of copies of the design or model, nor by the use of the mark.

Effect.

(c) The periods of priority above referred to shall be twelve months for patents and models of utility and four months for industrial designs and models as also for trademarks.

Period.

(d) Whoever shall wish to avail himself of the priority of an anterior filing, shall be required to make a declaration showing the date and the country of this filing. Each country shall determine at what moment, at the latest, this declaration must be executed. This information shall be mentioned in the publications issued by the competent Administration, particularly on patents and the specifications relative thereto. The contracting countries shall require of one who makes a declaration of priority the production of a copy of the application (specification, drawings, etc.) previously filed, certified to be a true copy by the Administration which shall have received it. This copy shall be dispensed from any legalisation. It may be required that it be accompanied by a certificate of the date of filing, issuing from this Administration, and of a translation. Other formalities shall not be required for the declaration of priority at the time of the filing of the application. Each contracting country shall determine the consequences of the omission of the formalities prescribed by the present article, unless these consequences exceed the loss of the right of priority.

Declaration required.

(e) Later other justifications can be demanded.

Further requirements.

ARTICLE 4½.

Patents applied for in the different contracting countries by persons admitted to the benefit of the Convention in the terms of articles 2 and 3, shall be independent of the patents obtained for the same invention in the other countries, adherent or not to the Union.

Independence of patents applied for.

This provision shall be understood in an absolute manner, particularly in the sense that the patents applied for during the term of priority are independent, as much from the point of view of the causes of nullity and of forfeiture as from the point of view of the normal duration.

It applies to all patents existing at the time of entrance into force.
It shall be likewise, in case of accession of new countries, for patents existing on both sides at the time of accession.

ARTICLE 5.

Introductions by patentee.

The importation, by the patentee, into the country where the patent has been granted, of articles manufactured in any of the countries of the Union shall not entail forfeiture.

Compliance with laws as to working of patent.

However, the patentee shall be obliged to work his patent according to the laws of the country into which he introduces the patented objects, but with the restriction that the patent shall not be liable to forfeiture because of non-working in one of the countries of the Union until after a term of three years, from the date of the filing of the application in that country, and only in case the patentee shall fail to show sufficient cause for his inaction.

ARTICLE 6.

Trademark registration.

Every trademark regularly registered in the country of origin shall be admitted to registration and protected as that in the other countries of the Union.

Restrictions.

However, there may be refused or invalidated:

1. Marks which are of a nature to infringe rights acquired by third parties in the country where protection is claimed.

2. Marks devoid of all distinctive character, or even composed exclusively of signs or data which may be used in commerce, to designate the kind, quality, quantity, destination, value, place of origin of the products or the time of production, or become common in the current language or the legal and steady customs of commerce of the country where the protection is claimed.

In the estimation of the distinctive character of a mark, all the circumstances existing should be taken into account, particularly the duration of the use of the mark.

3. Marks which are contrary to morals or public order.

Country of origin defined.

The country where the applicant has his principal establishment shall be considered as the country of origin.

If this principal establishment is not located in one of the countries of the Union, that to which the applicant belongs shall be considered as country of origin.

ARTICLE 7.

Nature of product.

The nature of the product on which the trademark is to be applied cannot, in any case, be an obstacle to the filing of the mark.

ARTICLE 7½.

Marks of lawful associations.

The contracting countries agree to admit for filing and to protect marks belonging to associations the existence of which is not contrary to the law of the country of origin, even if these associations do not possess an industrial or commercial establishment.

Each country shall be judge of the special conditions under which an association may be admitted to have the marks protected.

ARTICLE 8.

Trade names.

Trade names shall be protected in all the countries of the Union without the obligation of filing, whether it be a part or not of a trademark.

ARTICLE 9.

Any product bearing illegally a trademark or a trade name shall be seized at importation in those of the countries of the Union in which this mark or this trade name may have a right to legal protection. Seizure, etc., of articles illegally marked.

If the laws of a country do not admit of seizure on importation, the seizure shall be replaced by prohibition of importation.

The seizure shall be likewise effected in the country where illegal affixing shall have been made, or in the country into which the product shall have been imported.

The seizure shall be made at the request of the public ministry, or any other competent authority, or by an interested party, individual or society, in conformity to the interior laws of each country.

The authorities shall not be required to make the seizure in transit.

If the laws of a country admit neither of the seizure on importation nor the prohibition of importation, nor seizure in said country, these measures shall be replaced by the acts and means which the law of such country would assure in like case to its own citizens.

ARTICLE 10.

The provisions of the preceding article shall be applicable to any product bearing falsely, as indication of place of production, the name of a definite locality, when this indication shall be joined to a fictitious or borrowed trade name with an intention to defraud. Application.

The interested party is considered any producer, manufacturer or merchant, engaged in the production, manufacture or commerce of such product, and established either in the locality falsely indicated as place of production or in the region where this locality is situated.

ARTICLE 10½.

All the contracting countries agree to assure to the members of the Union an effective protection against unfair competition. Protection against unfair competition.

ARTICLE 11.

The contracting countries shall accord, in conformity with their national laws, a temporary protection to patentable inventions, working models, industrial models or designs, as well as to trademarks, for products exhibited at international expositions, official or officially recognized, organized in the territory of one of them. Temporary protection at international expositions.

ARTICLE 12.

Each of the contracting countries agrees to establish a special service for Industrial Property and a central office for the communication to the public of patents, working models, industrial models or designs and trademarks. Industrial property service.

This service shall publish, as often as possible, an official periodical. Official publication.

ARTICLE 13

The international Office instituted at Berne under the name of "Bureau international pour la protection de la Propriété industrielle" is placed under the high authority of the Government of the Swiss Confederation, which regulates its organization and supervises its operation. International Bureau at Berne.

The international Bureau shall centralize information of any nature relative to the protection of industrial property, and form it in a general statistical report which shall be distributed to all Administrations. Functions.

It shall proceed to considerations of common utility interesting to the Union and shall edit, with the aid of the documents put at its disposal by the different Administrations, a periodical in the French language on questions concerning the object of the Union.

Distribution of publications.

Numbers of this periodical, like all the documents published by the international Bureau, shall be distributed among the Administrations of the countries of the Union, in proportion to the number of contributive units mentioned below. Copies and supplementary documents which shall be requested, either by the said Administrations, or by societies or individuals, shall be paid for separately.

Special service.

The international Bureau shall hold itself at all times at the disposition of the members of the Union, to furnish them special information of which they may have need, on the questions relative to the international service of industrial property. It shall make an annual report of its management which shall be communicated to all members of the Union.

Official language.

The official language of the international Bureau shall be French.

Expenses.

The expense of the international Bureau shall be borne in common by the contracting countries. They may not, in any case, exceed the sum of sixty thousand francs per year.

Determination of quota.

In order to determine the contributive part of each of the countries in this sum total of the expenses, the contracting countries and those which later join the Union shall be divided into six classes, each contributing in proportion to a certain number of units, to-wit:

	Units.
Class 1.....	25
Class 2.....	20
Class 3.....	15
Class 4.....	10
Class 5.....	5
Class 6.....	3

These coefficients shall be multiplied by the number of countries of each class, and the sum of the products thus obtained will furnish the number of units by which the total expenses are to be divided. The quotient will give the amount of the unit of expense.

Each of the contracting countries shall designate at the time of its accession, the class in which it wishes to be ranked.

The Government of the Swiss Confederation shall supervise the expenses of the international Bureau, make necessary advances and draw up annual statements of accounts which shall be communicated to all the other Administrations.

ARTICLE 14.

Revision.

The present Convention shall be submitted to periodical revisions with a view to introducing improvements in it of a nature to perfect the system of the Union.

To this end Conferences of the delegates of the contracting countries shall be held successively in one of the said countries.

The Administration of the country where the Conference is to be held shall prepare, with the concurrence of the international Bureau the works of such Conference.

The Director of the international Bureau will assist at the meetings of the Conferences and take part in the discussions without a vote.

ARTICLE 15.

Reservation of special arrangements.

It is understood that the contracting countries reserve to themselves respectively the right to make separately, between themselves, special arrangements for the protection of industrial Property, in so far as these arrangements may not interfere with the provisions of the present Convention.

ARTICLE 16.

The countries which have not taken part in the present Convention shall be permitted to adhere to it upon their request. Adhesion of non-participating countries.

Notice of adhesion shall be made through diplomatic channels to the Government of the Swiss Confederation, and by the latter to all the others.

It shall entail complete adhesion to all the clauses and admission to all the advantages stipulated by the present Convention, and shall take effect one month after the notification made by the Government of the Swiss Confederation to the other unionist countries, unless a later date shall have been indicated by the adhering country.

They may, to this end, either make a general declaration by which all their colonies, possessions, dependencies and protectorates are included in the adherence, or expressly name those included therein, or simply indicate those excluded from it.

This declaration shall be made in writing to the Government of the Swiss Confederation and by the latter made to all the others.

The contracting countries can, under like conditions, renounce the Convention for their colonies, possessions, dependencies and protectorates, or for certain ones of them.

ARTICLE 17.

The fulfillment of the reciprocal obligations contained in the present Convention is subordinated, in so far as need be, to compliance with the formalities and regulations established by the constitutional laws of those of the contracting countries which are bound to secure the application of the same which they engage to do with the least possible delay. Legislation.

This Act, with its Final Protocol, shall replace, in the relations of the countries which shall have ratified it: the Convention of Paris, March 20, 1883; the Final Protocol annexed to that Act; the Protocol of Madrid, April 15, 1891 relating to the dotation of the international Bureau, and the additional Act of Brussels, December 14, 1900. Industrial property construed.
Ann., p. 1660.

AD ARTICLE 2.

(a) Under the name of patents are comprised the different kinds of industrial patents admitted by the laws of the contracting countries, such as patents of importation, patents of improvement, etc., for the processes as well as for the products.

Patents
Processes included.
Ann., p. 1660.

(b) It is understood that the provision in Article 2 which dispenses the members of the Union from the obligation of domicile and of establishment has an interpretable character and must, consequently, be applied to all the rights granted by the Convention of March 20, 1883, before the entrance into force of the present Act.

Domicile.

(c) It is understood that the provisions of Article 2 do not infringe the laws of each of the contracting countries, in regard to the procedure followed before the courts and the competency of those courts, as well as the election of domicile or the declaration of the selection of an attorney required by the laws on patents, working models, marks, etc.

Laws of procedure.

AD ARTICLE 4

It is understood that, when an industrial model or design shall have been filed in a country by virtue of the right of priority based on the filing of a working model, the term of priority shall be only that which Article 4 has fixed for industrial models and designs.

Models.
Ann., p. 1661.

AD ARTICLE 6.

It is understood that the provision of the first paragraph of Article 6 does not exclude the right to require of the depositor a certificate of regular registration in the country of origin, issued by competent authority.

Trade marks.
Ann., p. 1662.

It is understood that the use of badges, insignia or public decorations which shall not have been authorized by competent powers, or the use of official signs and stamps of control and of guaranty adopted by a unionist country, may be considered as contrary to public order in the sense of No. 3 of Article 6.

However, marks, which contain, with the authorization of competent powers, the reproduction of badges, decorations or public insignia, shall not be considered as contrary to public order.

[NOTE.—Translation follows, on p. 1707.]

ARTICLE PREMIER.

Les Hautes Parties contractantes s'engagent à appliquer les dispositions de la présente Convention dans toutes les stations radiotélégraphiques (stations côtières et stations de bord) qui sont établies ou exploitées par les Parties contractantes et ouvertes au service de la correspondance publique entre la terre et les navires en mer.

Government public stations bound.

Elles s'engagent, en outre, à imposer l'observation de ces dispositions aux exploitations privées autorisées, soit à établir ou à exploiter des stations côtières radiotélégraphiques ouvertes au service de la correspondance publique entre la terre et les navires en mer, soit à établir ou à exploiter des stations radiotélégraphiques ouvertes ou non au service de la correspondance publique à bord des navires qui portent leur pavillon.

Applicable to private commercial stations and to ships.

ARTICLE 2.

Est appelée station côtière toute station radiotélégraphique établie sur terre ferme ou à bord d'un navire ancré à demeure et utilisée pour l'échange de la correspondance avec les navires en mer.

Coastal stations.

Toute station radiotélégraphique établie sur un navire autre qu'un bateau fixe est appelée station de bord.

Stations on ship-board.

ARTICLE 3.

Les stations côtières et les stations de bord sont tenues d'échanger réciproquement les radiotélégrammes sans distinction du système radiotélégraphique adopté par ces stations.

Exchange of radiograms.

Chaque station de bord est tenue d'échanger les radiotélégrammes avec toute autre station de bord sans distinction du système radiotélégraphique adopté par ces stations.

Between ships.

Toutefois, afin de ne pas entraver les progrès scientifiques, les dispositions du présent article n'empêchent pas l'emploi éventuel d'un système radiotélégraphique incapable de communiquer avec d'autres systèmes, pourvu que cette incapacité soit due à la nature spécifique de ce système et qu'elle ne soit pas l'effet de dispositifs adoptés uniquement en vue d'empêcher l'intercommunication.

Use of nonintercommunicable systems.

ARTICLE 4.

Nonobstant les dispositions de l'article 3, une station peut être affectée à un service de correspondance publique restreinte déterminé par le but de la correspondance ou par d'autres circonstances indépendantes du système employé.

Limited service stations.

ARTICLE 5.

Chacune des Hautes Parties contractantes s'engage à faire relier les stations côtières au réseau télégraphique par des fils spéciaux ou, tout au moins, à prendre d'autres mesures assurant un échange rapide entre les stations côtières et le réseau télégraphique.

Connections with telegraph systems.

ARTICLE 6.

Les Hautes Parties contractantes se donnent mutuellement connaissance des noms des stations côtières et des stations de bord visées à l'article 1^{er}, ainsi que de toutes les indications propres à faciliter et à accélérer les échanges radiotélégraphiques qui seront spécifiés dans le Règlement.

Data to be furnished mutually.

ARTICLE 7.

Use of special devices.

Chacune des Hautes Parties contractantes se réserve la faculté de prescrire ou d'admettre que dans les stations visées à l'article 1^{er}, indépendamment de l'installation dont les indications sont publiées conformément à l'article 6, d'autres dispositifs soient établis et exploités en vue d'une transmission radiotélégraphique spéciale sans que les détails de ces dispositifs soient publiés.

ARTICLE 8.

Interference to be avoided.

L'exploitation des stations radiotélégraphiques est organisée, autant que possible, de manière à ne pas troubler le service d'autres stations de l'espèce.

ARTICLE 9.

Priority to distress calls.

Les stations radiotélégraphiques sont obligées d'accepter par priorité absolue les appels de détresse quelle qu'en soit la provenance, de répondre de même à ces appels et d'y donner la suite qu'ils comportent.

ARTICLE 10.

Charges.

La taxe d'un radiotélégramme comprend, selon le cas:

- 1° (a) la "taxe côtière" qui appartient à la station côtière, (b) la "taxe de bord" qui appartient à la station de bord;
- 2° la taxe pour la transmission sur les lignes télégraphiques, calculée d'après les règles ordinaires;
- 3° les taxes de transit des stations côtières au de bord intermédiaires et les taxes afférentes aux services spéciaux demandées par l'expéditeur.

Le taux de la taxe côtière est soumis à l'approbation du Gouvernement dont dépend la station côtière; celui de la taxe de bord, à l'approbation de Gouvernement dont dépend le navire.

ARTICLE 11.

Regulations authorized.
Post, p. 1683.

Les dispositions de la présente Convention sont complétées par un Règlement qui a la même valeur et entre en vigueur en même temps que la Convention.

Modifications by subsequent conferences.

Les prescriptions de la présente Convention et du Règlement y relatif peuvent être à toute époque modifiées d'un commun accord par les Hautes Parties contractantes. Des conférences de plénipotentiaires ayant le pouvoir de modifier la Convention et le Règlement auront lieu périodiquement; chaque conférence fixera elle-même le lieu et l'époque de la réunion suivante.

ARTICLE 12.

Si un Gouvernement adhère à la Convention pour ses colonies, possessions ou protectorats, les conférences ultérieures peuvent décider que l'ensemble ou une partie de ces colonies, possessions ou protectorats est considéré comme formant un pays pour l'application de l'alinéa précédent. Toutefois le nombre des voix dont dispose un Gouvernement, y compris ses colonies, possessions ou protectorats, ne peut dépasser six.

En cas de dissentiment entre deux ou plusieurs Gouvernements contractants relativement à l'interprétation ou à l'exécution, soit de la présente Convention, soit du Règlement prévu par l'article 11, la question en litige peut, d'un commun accord, être soumise à un jugement arbitral. Dans ce cas, chacun des Gouvernements en cause en choisit un autre non intéressé dans la question.

La décision des arbitres est prise à la majorité absolue des voix.

En cas de partage des voix, les arbitres choisissent, pour trancher le différend, un autre Gouvernement contractant également désintéressé dans le litige. A défaut d'une entente concernant ce choix, chaque arbitre propose un Gouvernement contractant désintéressé; il est tiré au sort entre les Gouvernements proposés. Le tirage au sort appartient au Gouvernement sur le territoire duquel fonctionne le Bureau international prévu à l'article 13.

Année, p. 1675.

ARTICLE 19.

Toutefois, lorsque ces installations et stations font un échange de correspondance publique maritime, elles se conforment, pour l'exécution de ce service, aux prescriptions du Règlement en ce qui concerne le mode de transmission et la comptabilité.

Si, d'autre part, des stations côtières assurent, en même temps que la correspondance publique avec les navires en mer des communications entre points fixes, elles ne sont pas soumises, pour l'exécution de ce dernier service, aux dispositions de la Convention, sous réserve de l'observation des articles 8 et 9 de cette Convention.

Land and ship service.

Annex, p. 1674.

Fixed land service.

Cependant les stations fixes qui font de la correspondance entre terre et terre ne doivent pas refuser l'échange de radiotélégrammes avec une autre station fixe à cause du système adopté par cette station; toutefois la liberté de chaque Pays reste entière en ce qui concerne l'organisation du service de la correspondance entre points fixes et la détermination des correspondances à faire par les stations affectées à ce service.

ARTICLE 22.

La présente Convention sera mise à exécution à partir du 1^{er} juillet 1913, et demeurera en vigueur pendant un temps indéterminé et jusqu'à l'expiration d'une année à partir du jour où la dénonciation en sera faite.

Effect.

La dénonciation ne produit son effet qu'à l'égard du Gouvernement au nom duquel elle a été faite. Pour les autres Parties contractantes, la Convention reste en vigueur.

Denunciation.

ARTICLE 23.

La présente Convention sera ratifiée et les ratifications en seront déposées à Londres dans le plus bref délai possible.

Exchange of ratifications.

Dans le cas où une ou plusieurs des Hautes Parties contractantes ne ratifieraient pas la Convention, celle-ci n'en sera pas moins valable pour les Parties qui l'auront ratifiée.

En foi de quoi, les Plénipotentiaires respectifs ont signé la Convention en un exemplaire qui restera déposé aux archives du Gouvernement britannique et dont une copie sera remise à chaque Partie.

Bosnie-Herzégovine.
Classification of vote.

Annex, p. 1674.

La nature exacte de l'adhésion notifiée de la part de la Bosnie-Herzégovine n'étant pas encore déterminée, il est reconnu qu'une voix est attribuée à la Bosnie-Herzégovine, une décision devant intervenir ultérieurement sur le point de savoir si cette voix lui appartient en vertu du second paragraphe de l'article 12 de la Convention, ou si cette voix lui est accordée conformément aux dispositions du troisième paragraphe de cet article.

En foi de quoi, les Plénipotentiaires respectifs ont dressé le présent Protocole final qui aura la même force et la même valeur que si ses dispositions étaient insérées dans le texte même de la Convention à laquelle il se rapporte, et ils l'ont signé en un exemplaire qui restera déposé aux archives du Gouvernement britannique et dont une copie sera remise à chaque Partie.

1. Organisation des stations radiotélégraphiques.

Organization.

ARTICLE I.

Le choix des appareils et des dispositifs radiotélégraphiques à employer par les stations côtières et les stations de bord est libre. L'installation de ces stations doit répondre, autant que possible, aux progrès scientifiques et techniques.

Choice of apparatus unrestricted.

ARTICLE II.

Deux longueurs d'onde, l'une de 600 mètres et l'autre de 300 mètres, sont admises pour le service de la correspondance publique générale. Toute station côtière ouverte à ce service doit être équipée de façon à pouvoir utiliser ces deux longueurs d'onde, dont l'une est désignée comme la longueur d'onde normale de la station. Pendant toute la durée de son ouverture chaque station côtière doit être en état de recevoir les appels faits au moyen de sa longueur d'onde normale.

Wave lengths.

Coastal stations.

[* Pages refer to the original Convention, as indicated by heavy-faced figures.]

Long range or special service.

Toutefois, pour les correspondances visées au paragraphe 2 de l'article XXXV, il est fait usage d'une longueur d'onde de 1,800 mètres. En outre, chaque Gouvernement peut autoriser l'emploi, dans une station côtière, d'autres longueurs d'onde destinées à assurer un service de longue portée, ou un service autre que celui de la correspondance publique générale et établi conformément aux dispositions de la Convention, sous la réserve que ces longueurs d'onde ne dépassent pas 600 mètres ou qu'elles soient supérieures à 1,600 mètres.

En particulier, les stations utilisées exclusivement pour l'envoi de signaux destinés à déterminer la position des navires ne doivent pas employer des longueurs d'onde supérieures à 150 mètres.

ARTICLE III.

Shipboard stations.

1. Toute station de bord doit être équipée de façon à pouvoir se servir des longueurs d'onde de 600 mètres et de 300 mètres. La première est la longueur d'onde normale, et ne peut être dépassée dans la transmission, hormis le cas de l'article XXXV (paragraphe 2).

Il peut être fait usage d'autres longueurs d'ondes, inférieures à 600 mètres, dans des cas spéciaux, et moyennant l'approbation des Administrations dont dépendent les stations côtières et les stations de bord intéressées.

2. Pendant toute la durée de son ouverture chaque station de bord doit pouvoir recevoir les appels effectués au moyen de sa longueur d'onde normale.

Small vessels.

3. Les navires de faible tonnage qui seraient dans l'impossibilité matérielle d'utiliser la longueur d'onde de 600 mètres pour la transmission peuvent être autorisés à employer exclusivement la longueur d'onde de 300 mètres; ils doivent être en mesure de recevoir au moyen de la longueur d'onde de 600 mètres.

[2]

ARTICLE IV.

Communications between coastal and shipboard stations.

Les communications entre une station côtière et une station de bord, ou entre deux stations de bord, doivent être échangées de part et d'autre au moyen de la même longueur d'onde. Si, dans un cas particulier, la communication est difficile, les deux stations peuvent, d'un commun accord, passer de la longueur d'onde au moyen de laquelle elles correspondent à l'autre longueur d'onde réglementaire. Les deux stations reprennent leurs longueurs d'onde normales lorsque l'échange radiotélégraphique est terminé.

ARTICLE V.

International Bureau.

1. Le Bureau international dresse, publie et revise périodiquement une carte officielle mentionnant les stations côtières, leurs portées normales, les principales lignes de navigation et le temps employé normalement par les navires pour la traversée entre les divers ports d'atterrissage.

List of stations.

2. Il établit et publie une Nomenclature des stations radiotélégraphiques visées à l'article 1^{er} de la Convention, ainsi que des suppléments périodiques pour les additions et modifications. Cette Nomenclature donne pour chaque station les renseignements suivants:

Data.

1° Pour les stations côtières: le nom, la nationalité et la position géographique indiquée par la subdivision territoriale et par la longitude et la latitude du lieu; pour les stations de bord: le nom et la nationalité du navire; le cas échéant, le nom et l'adresse de l'exploitant.

2° l'indicatif d'appel (les indicatifs doivent être différenciés les uns des autres, et chacun doit être formé d'un groupe de trois lettres);

- 3° la portée normale;
- 4° le système radiotélégraphique avec les caractéristiques du système d'émission (étincelles musicales, tonalité exprimée par le nombre de vibrations doubles, &c.);
- 5° les longueurs d'onde utilisées (la longueur d'onde normale est soulignée);
- 6° la nature des services effectués;
- 7° les heures d'ouverture;
- 8° le cas échéant, l'heure et le mode d'envoi des signaux horaires et des télégrammes météorologiques;
- 9° la taxe côtière ou de bord.

3. Sont compris également dans la Nomenclature les renseignements relatifs aux stations radiotélégraphiques autres que celles visées à l'article 1^{er} de la Convention qui sont communiqués au Bureau international par l'Administration dont dépendent ces stations, pourvu qu'il s'agisse, soit d'Administrations adhérentes à la Convention, soit d'Administrations non adhérentes, mais ayant fait la déclaration prévue à l'article XLVIII.

Other data.

4. Les notations suivantes sont adoptées dans les documents à l'usage du service international pour désigner les stations radiotélégraphiques:—

Station designations.

- PG. station ouverte à la correspondance publique générale;
- PR. station ouverte à la correspondance publique restreinte;
- P. station d'intérêt privé;
- O. station ouverte seulement à la correspondance officielle;
- N. station ayant un service permanent.
- X. station n'ayant pas de vacations déterminées.

5. Le nom d'une station de bord indiqué à la première colonne de la Nomenclature doit être suivi, en cas d'homonymie, de l'indicatif d'appel de cette station.

Shipboard stations.

[3]

ARTICLE VI.

L'échange de signaux et de mots superflus est interdit aux stations visées à l'article 1^{er} de la Convention. Des essais et des exercices ne sont tolérés dans ces stations qu'autant qu'ils ne troublent point le service d'autres stations.

Superfluous signals prohibited.

Les exercices doivent être effectués avec des longueurs d'onde différentes de celles admises pour la correspondance publique, et avec le minimum de puissance nécessaire.

ARTICLE VII.

1. Toutes les stations sont tenues d'échanger le trafic avec le minimum d'énergie nécessaire pour assurer une bonne communication.

Energy requirements.

2. Toute station côtière ou de bord doit satisfaire aux conditions suivantes:

(a) Les ondes émises doivent être aussi pures et aussi peu amorties que possible.

En particulier, l'usage de dispositifs transmetteurs dans lesquels la production des ondes émises est obtenue en déchargeant directement l'antenne par étincelles (plain aerial) n'est pas autorisé, sauf dans les cas de détresse.

Il peut cependant être admis pour certaines stations spéciales (par exemple celles des petits bateaux) dans lesquelles la puissance primaire ne dépasse pas cinquante watts.

(b) Les appareils doivent être à même de transmettre et de recevoir à une vitesse au moins égale à 20 mots per minute, le mot étant compté à raison de 5 lettres.

Les installations nouvelles mettant en jeu une énergie de plus de 50 watts seront équipées de telle sorte qu'il soit possible d'obtenir facilement plusieurs portées inférieures à la portée normale, la plus faible étant de 15 milles nautiques environ. Les installations anciennes mettant en jeu une énergie de plus de 50 watts seront transformées, autant que possible, de manière à satisfaire aux prescriptions précédentes.

(c) Les appareils récepteurs doivent permettre de recevoir, avec le maximum possible de protection contre les perturbations, les transmissions sur les longueurs d'onde prévues au présent Règlement, jusqu'à 600 mètres.

3. Les stations servant exclusivement à déterminer la position des navires (radiophares) ne doivent pas opérer dans un rayon supérieur à 30 milles nautiques.

ARTICLE VIII.

Special shipboard conditions.

Indépendamment des conditions générales spécifiées à l'article VII, les stations de bord doivent également satisfaire aux conditions suivantes:—

(a) La puissance transmise à l'appareil radiotélégraphique, mesurée aux bornes de la génératrice de la station, ne doit pas, dans les circonstances normales, dépasser un kilowatt.

(b) Sous réserve des prescriptions de l'article XXXV, paragraphe 2, une puissance supérieure à un kilowatt peut être employée, si le navire se trouve dans la nécessité de correspondre à une distance de plus de 200 milles nautiques de la station côtière la plus rapprochée, ou si, par suite de circonstances exceptionnelles, la communication ne peut être réalisée qu'au moyen d'une augmentation de puissance.

ARTICLE IX.

Shipboard stations to be licensed.

1. Aucune station de bord ne peut être établie ou exploitée par une entreprise privée sans une licence délivrée par le Gouvernement dont dépend le navire.

Les stations à bord des navires ayant leur port d'attache dans une colonie, possession, ou protectorat peuvent être désignées comme dépendant de l'autorité de cette colonie, possession, ou protectorat.

Recognition of official license.

[4] 2. Toute station de bord titulaire d'une licence délivrée par l'un des Gouvernements contractants doit être considérée par les autres Gouvernements comme ayant une installation remplissant les conditions prévues par le présent Règlement.

Les autorités compétentes des pays où le navire fait escales peuvent exiger la production de la licence. A défaut de cette production ces autorités peuvent s'assurer que les installations radiotélégraphiques du navire satisfont aux conditions imposées par le présent Règlement.

Complaints of service.

Lorsqu'une Administration reconnaît par la pratique qu'une station de bord ne remplit pas ces conditions, elle doit, dans tous les cas, adresser une réclamation à l'Administration du pays dont dépend le navire. Il est ensuite procédé, le cas échéant, comme le prescrit l'article XII, paragraphe 2.

ARTICLE X.

Operator's certificate.

1. Le service de la station de bord doit être assuré par un télégraphiste possesseur d'un certificat délivré par le Gouvernement dont dépend le navire, ou, en cas d'urgence et seulement pour une traversée, par un autre Gouvernement adhérent.

2. Il y a deux classes de certificats:

Celui de 1^{re} classe constate la valeur professionnelle du télégraphiste en ce qui concerne:—

First class.

(a) le réglage des appareils et la connaissance de leur fonctionnement;

(b) la transmission et la réception auditive à une vitesse qui ne doit pas être inférieure à 20 mots par minute;

(c) la connaissance des règlements applicables à l'échange des communications radiotélégraphiques;

Second class.

Le certificat de seconde classe peut être délivré à un télégraphiste n'atteignant qu'une vitesse de transmission et de réception de 12 à 19 mots par minute, tout en satisfaisant aux autres conditions susmentionnées. Les télégraphistes possesseurs d'un certificat de seconde classe peuvent être admis:—

(a) sur les navires qui n'emploient la radiotélégraphie que pour leur service propre et pour la correspondance de l'équipage, en particulier sur les bateaux de pêche;

(b) sur tous les navires, à titre de suppléants, pourvu que ces navires aient à bord au moins un télégraphiste possesseur d'un certificat de première classe. Toutefois, sur les navires classés dans la première catégorie indiqué à l'article XIII, le service doit être assuré par au moins deux télégraphistes possesseurs de certificats de première classe.

Transmissions.

Dans les stations de bord, les transmissions ne pourront être faites que par un télégraphiste muni d'un certificat de première ou de seconde classe, exception faite des cas d'urgence où il serait impossible de se conformer à cette disposition.

Secrecy required.

3. En outre, le certificat constate que le Gouvernement a soumis le télégraphiste à l'obligation du secret des correspondances.

Superior authority.

4. Le service radiotélégraphique de la station de bord est placé sous l'autorité supérieure du commandant du navire.

ARTICLE XI.

Les navires dotés d'installations radiotélégraphiques et classés dans les deux premières catégories indiquées à l'article XIII sont tenus d'avoir des installations radiotélégraphiques de secours dont tous les éléments sont placés dans des conditions de sécurité aussi grandes que possible et à déterminer par le Gouvernement qui délivre la licence. Ces installations de secours doivent disposer d'une source d'énergie qui leur soit propre, pouvoir être mises rapidement en marche, fonctionner pendant six heures au moins et avoir une portée minima de 80 milles nautiques pour les navires de la première catégorie et de 50 milles pour ceux de la deuxième catégorie. Cette installation de secours n'est pas exigée pour les navires dont l'installation normale remplit les conditions du présent article.

Emergency distress installations.

ARTICLE XII.

1. Si une Administration a connaissance d'une infraction à la Convention ou au Règlement commise dans une des stations qu'elle a autorisées, elle constate les faits et fixe les responsabilités.

Responsibility for infractions.

[5] En ce qui concerne les stations de bord, si la responsabilité incombe au télégraphiste, l'Administration prend les mesures nécessaires, et, le cas échéant, retire le certificat. S'il est constaté que l'infraction résulte de l'état des appareils ou d'instructions données au télégraphiste, il est procédé de même à l'égard de la licence accordée au navire.

2. Dans le cas d'infractions réitérées à la charge du même navire, si les représentations faites à l'Administration dont dépend le navire

Repeated infractions.

Arbitration of disagreements.

Annex, p. 1676.

Hours of service at stations.

par une autre Administration restent sans effet, celle-ci a la faculté, après en avoir donné avis, d'autoriser ses stations côtières à ne pas accepter les communications provenant du navire en cause. En cas de différend entre les deux Administrations, la question est soumise à un jugement arbitral à la demande de l'un des Gouvernements intéressés. La procédure est indiquée à l'article 18 de la Convention.

2. Durée du service des stations.

ARTICLE XIII.

(a) Stations côtières.

Coastal stations.

1. Le service des stations côtières est, autant que possible, permanent, le jour et la nuit, sans interruptions.

Toutefois certaines stations côtières peuvent avoir un service de durée limitée. Chaque Administration fixe les heures de service.

2. Les stations côtières dont le service n'est point permanent ne peuvent prendre clôture avant d'avoir transmis tous leurs radiotélégrammes aux navires qui se trouvent dans leur rayon d'action et avant d'avoir reçu de ces navires tous les radiotélégrammes annoncés. Cette disposition est également applicable lorsque des navires signalent leur présence avant la cessation effective du travail.

(b) Stations de bord.

Shipboard stations.

3. Les stations de bord sont classées en trois catégories:—

1° Stations ayant un service permanent;

2° Stations ayant un service de durée limitée;

3° Stations n'ayant pas de vacations déterminées.

Pendant la navigation, doivent rester en permanence sur écoute: 1° les stations de la première catégorie; 2° celles de la deuxième catégorie, durant les heures d'ouverture du service; en dehors de ces heures, ces dernières stations doivent rester sur écoute les dix premières minutes de chaque heure. Les stations de la troisième catégorie ne sont astreintes à aucun service régulier d'écoute.

Classification of ships.

Il appartient aux Gouvernements qui délivrent les licences spécifiées par l'article IX de fixer la catégorie dans laquelle est classé le navire au point de vue de ses obligations en matière d'écoute. Mention de cette classification est faite dans la licence.

Form and posting of radiograms.

3. Rédaction et dépôt des radiotélégrammes.

ARTICLE XIV.

Notice of radio service.

1. Les radiotélégrammes portent, comme premier mot du préambule, la mention de service "radio."

Messages from ships.

2. Dans la transmission de radiotélégrammes originaux d'un navire en mer, la date et l'heure du dépôt à la station de bord sont indiquées dans le préambule.

Reforwarding.

3. A la réexpédition sur le réseau télégraphique, la station côtière inscrit comme indication du bureau d'origine, le nom du navire d'origine tel qu'il figure à la Nomenclature, et aussi, le cas échéant, celui du dernier navire qui a servi d'intermédiaire. Ces indications sont suivies du nom de la station côtière.

[6]

ARTICLE XV.

Messages for ships.

1. L'adresse des radiotélégrammes destinés aux navires doit être aussi complète que possible. Elle est obligatoirement libellée comme suit:—

(a) nom ou qualité du destinataire, avec indication complémentaire, s'il y a lieu;

(b) nom du navire, tel qu'il figure dans la première colonne de la Nomenclature;

(c) nom de la station côtière, tel qu'il figure à la Nomenclature.

Toutefois, le nom du navire peut être remplacé, aux risques et périls de l'expéditeur, par l'indication du parcours effectué par ce navire et déterminé par les noms des ports d'origine et de destination ou par toute autre mention équivalente.

2. Dans l'adresse, le nom du navire, tel qu'il figure dans la première colonne de la Nomenclature, est, dans tous les cas et indépendamment de sa longueur, compté pour un mot.

3. Les radiotélégrammes rédigés à l'aide du Code international de signaux sont transmis à destination sans être traduits.

Code messages.

4. Taxation.

Rates.

ARTICLE XVI.

1. La taxe côtière et la taxe de bord sont fixées suivant le tarif par mot pur et simple, sur la base d'une rémunération équitable du travail radiotélégraphique, avec application facultative d'un minimum de taxe par radiotélégramme.

Maximum.

La taxe côtière ne peut dépasser 60 centimes par mot, et celle de bord 40 centimes par mot. Toutefois, chacune des Administrations a la faculté d'autoriser des taxes côtières et de bord supérieures à ces maxima dans le cas de stations d'une portée dépassant 400 milles nautiques, ou de stations exceptionnellement onéreuses en raison des conditions matérielles de leur installation et de leur exploitation.

Le minimum facultatif de taxe par radiotélégramme ne peut être supérieur à la taxe côtière ou de bord d'un radiotélégramme de 10 mots.

Minimum.

2. En ce qui concerne les radiotélégrammes originaux ou à destination d'un pays et échangés directement avec les stations côtières de ce pays, la taxe applicable à la transmission sur les lignes télégraphiques ne doit pas dépasser, en moyenne, celle du régime intérieur de ce pays.

Telegraph land serv.

Cette taxe est calculée par mot pur et simple, avec un minimum facultatif de perception ne dépassant pas la taxe afférente à dix mots. Elle est notifiée en français par l'Administration du pays dont relève la station côtière.

Pour les pays du régime européen, à l'exception de la Russie et de la Turquie, il n'y a qu'une taxe unique pour le territoire de chaque pays.

European countries.

ARTICLE XVII.

1. Lorsqu'un radiotélégramme original d'un navire et à destination de la terre ferme transite par une ou deux stations de bord, la taxe comprend, outre celles du bord d'origine, de la station côtière et des lignes télégraphiques, la taxe de bord de chacun des navires ayant participé à la transmission.

From shipboard to
ship.

2. L'expéditeur d'un radiotélégramme original de la terre ferme et destiné à un navire peut demander que son message soit transmis par l'intermédiaire d'une ou de deux stations de bord; il dépose à cet effet le montant des taxes radiotélégraphiques et télégraphiques, et en outre, à titre d'arrhes, une somme à fixer par le bureau d'origine en vue du paiement aux stations de bord intermédiaires des taxes de transit fixées au § 1; il doit encore verser, à son choix, la taxe d'un télégramme de 5 mots ou le prix d'affranchissement d'une lettre à expédier par la station côtière au bureau d'origine pour donner les renseignements nécessaires à la liquidation des arrhes déposées.

From shore to ship
through another ship.

Le radiotélégramme est alors accepté aux risques et périls de l'expéditeur; il porte avant l'adresse l'indication éventuelle taxée: "x retransmissions télégraphe" ou "x retransmissions lettre" (x représentant le nombre des retransmissions demandées par l'expéditeur), selon que l'expéditeur désire que les renseignements nécessaires à la liquidation des arrhes soient fournis par télégraphe ou par lettre.

From ship to ship
through shore.

[7] 3. La taxe des radiotélégrammes originaires d'un navire, à destination d'un autre navire, et acheminés par l'intermédiaire d'une ou de deux stations côtières, comprend:

Les taxes de bord des deux navires, la taxe de la station côtière ou des deux stations côtières, selon le cas, et éventuellement la taxe télégraphique applicable au parcours entre les deux stations côtières.

From ship to ship.

4. La taxe des radiotélégrammes échangés entre les navires en dehors de l'intervention d'une station côtière comprend les taxes de bord des navires d'origine et de destination augmentées des taxes de bord des stations intermédiaires.

Receiving and sending
same.

5. Les taxes côtière et de bord dues aux stations de transit sont les mêmes que celles fixées pour ces stations lorsque ces dernières sont stations d'origine ou de destination. Dans tous les cas, elles ne sont perçues qu'une fois.

Intermediate service.

6. Pour toute station côtière intermédiaire, la taxe à percevoir pour le service de transit est la plus élevée des taxes côtières afférentes à l'échange direct avec les deux navires en cause.

ARTICLE XVIII.

Telegraph intermediate service.

Le pays sur le territoire duquel est établie une station côtière servant d'intermédiaire pour l'échange de radiotélégrammes entre une station de bord et un autre pays est considéré, en ce qui concerne l'application des taxes télégraphiques, comme pays de provenance ou de destination de ces radiotélégrammes et non comme pays de transit.

Collection of charges.

5. Perception des taxes.

ARTICLE XIX.

From sender.
Exception.

1. La taxe totale des radiotélégrammes est perçue sur l'expéditeur à l'exception 1° des frais d'express (article LVIII, paragraphe 1, du Règlement télégraphique); 2° des taxes applicables aux réunions ou altérations de mots non admises, constatées par le bureau ou la station de destination (article XIX, paragraphe 9, du Règlement télégraphique), ces taxes étant perçues sur le destinataire.

Les stations de bord doivent posséder à cet effet les tarifs utiles. Elles ont, toutefois, la faculté de se renseigner auprès des stations côtières au sujet de la taxation de radiotélégrammes pour lesquels elles ne possèdent pas toutes les données nécessaires.

Computation.

2. Le compte des mots du bureau d'origine est décisif au sujet des radiotélégrammes à destination de navires et celui de la station de bord d'origine est décisif au sujet des radiotélégrammes originaires de navires, tant pour la transmission que pour les comptes internationaux. Toutefois, quand le radiotélégramme est rédigé totalement ou partiellement, soit dans une des langues du pays de destination, en cas de radiotélégrammes originaires de navires, soit dans une des langues du pays dont dépend le navire, s'il s'agit de radiotélégrammes à destination de navires, et que le radiotélégramme contient des réunions ou des altérations de mots contraires à l'usage de cette langue, le bureau ou la station de bord de destination, suivant le cas, a la faculté de recouvrer sur le destinataire le montant de la taxe non perçue. En cas de refus de paiement, le radiotélégramme peut être arrêté.

6. Transmission des radiotélégrammes.

Transmission of radiograms.

a. Signaux de transmission.

Signals.

ARTICLE XX.

Les signaux employés sont ceux du Code Morse international.

Morse International Code.

ARTICLE XXI.

Les navires en détresse font usage du signal suivant:

Distress call.

répété à de courts intervalles, suivi des indications nécessaires.

[S] Dès qu'une station perçoit le signal de détresse, elle doit suspendre toute correspondance et ne la reprendre qu'après avoir acquis la certitude que la communication motivée par l'appel de secours est terminée.

Immediate attention, etc.

Les stations qui perçoivent un appel de détresse doivent se conformer aux indications données par le navire qui fait l'appel, en ce qui concerne l'ordre des communications ou leur cessation.

Dans le cas où à la fin de la série des appels de secours est ajouté l'indicatif d'appel d'une station déterminée la réponse à l'appel n'appartient qu'à cette dernière station, à moins que celle-ci ne réponde pas. A défaut de l'indication d'une station déterminée dans l'appel de secours, chaque station qui perçoit cet appel est tenue d'y répondre.

ARTICLE XXII.

Pour donner ou demander des renseignements concernant le service radiotélégraphique, les stations doivent faire usage des signaux contenus dans la liste annexée au présent Règlement.

Arbitrary signals. Part, p. 170.

b. Ordre de transmission.

Order of transmission.

ARTICLE XXIII.

Entre deux stations, les radiotélégrammes de même rang sont transmis isolément dans l'ordre alternatif ou par séries de plusieurs radiotélégrammes suivant l'indication de la station côtière à la condition que la durée de la transmission de chaque série ne dépasse pas 15 minutes.

Alternately or serially.

c. Appel des stations et transmission des radiotélégrammes.

Method of calling and transmitting.

ARTICLE XXIV.

1. En règle générale, c'est la station de bord qui appelle la station côtière, qu'elle ait ou non à transmettre des radiotélégrammes.

General rule.

2. Dans les eaux où le trafic radiotélégraphique est intense (La Manche, etc.), l'appel d'un navire à une station côtière ne peut, en règle générale, s'effectuer que si cette dernière se trouve dans la portée normale de la station de bord et lorsque celle-ci arrive à une distance inférieure à 75 pour cent de la portée normale de la station côtière.

In heavy traffic waters.

3. Avant de procéder à un appel, la station côtière ou la station de bord doit régler le plus sensiblement possible son système récepteur et s'assurer qu'aucune autre communication ne s'effectue dans son rayon d'action; s'il en est autrement, elle attend la première suspension, à moins qu'elle ne reconnaisse que son appel n'est pas susceptible de troubler les communications en cours. Il en est de même dans le cas où elle veut répondre à un appel.

Adjustment of apparatus.

- Wave to be used. 4. Pour l'appel, toute station fait emploi de l'onde normale de la station à appeler.
- Interruptions. 5. Si, malgré ces précautions, une transmission radiotélégraphique est entravée, l'appel doit cesser à la première demande d'une station côtière ouverte à la correspondance publique. Cette station doit alors indiquer la durée approximative de l'attente.
- Notice of intent to cease. 6. La station de bord doit faire connaître à chaque station côtière à laquelle elle a signalé sa présence le moment où elle se propose de cesser ses opérations ainsi que la durée probable de l'interruption.

ARTICLE XXV.

- Call signal. 1. L'appel comporte le signal — • — • —, l'indicatif de la station appelée émis trois fois, et le mot "de" suivi de l'indicatif de la station expéditrice, émis trois fois.
- Answer signal. 2. La station appelée répond en donnant le signal — • — • —, suivi de l'indicatif, émis trois fois, de la station correspondante, du mot "de," de son propre indicatif et du signal — • —.
- General call. [9] 3. Les stations qui désirent entrer en communication avec des navires, sans cependant connaître les noms de ceux qui se trouvent dans leur rayon d'action peuvent employer le signal — • — • — (signal de recherche). Les dispositions des paragraphes 1 et 2 sont également applicables à la transmission du signal de recherche et à la réponse à ce signal.

ARTICLE XXVI.

- Calls not answered. Si une station appelée ne répond pas à la suite de l'appel (article XXV) émis trois fois à des intervalles de deux minutes, l'appel ne peut être repris qu'après un intervalle de quinze minutes, la station faisant l'appel s'étant d'abord assurée du fait qu'aucune communication radiotélégraphique n'est en cours.

ARTICLE XXVII.

- High power messages. Toute station qui doit effectuer une transmission nécessitant l'emploi d'une grande puissance émet d'abord trois fois le signal d'avertissement — — • • — —, avec la puissance minimum nécessaire pour atteindre les stations voisines. Elle ne commence ensuite à transmettre avec la grande puissance que 30 secondes après l'envoi du signal d'avertissement.

ARTICLE XXVIII.

- Statement from ship-board station. 1. Aussitôt que la station côtière a répondu la station de bord lui fournit les renseignements qui suivent si elle a des messages à lui transmettre; ces renseignements sont également donnés lorsque la station côtière en fait la demande:
- (a) la distance approximative, en milles nautiques, du navire à la station côtière;
 - (b) la position du navire indiquée sous une forme concise et adaptée aux circonstances respectives;
 - (c) le prochain port auquel touchera le navire;
 - (d) le nombre de radiotélégrammes, s'ils sont de longueur normale, ou le nombre de mots, si les messages ont une longueur exceptionnelle.
- La vitesse du navire en milles nautiques est indiquée spécialement à la demande expresse de la station côtière.
- From coastal station. 2. La station côtière répond en indiquant, comme il est dit au § 1, soit le nombre de télégrammes, soit le nombre de mots à transmettre au navire, ainsi que l'ordre de transmission.

3. Si la transmission ne peut avoir lieu immédiatement, la station côtière fait connaître à la station de bord la durée approximative de l'attente.

Delayed service.

4. Si une station de bord appelée ne peut momentanément recevoir, elle informe la station appelante de la durée approximative de l'attente.

5. Dans les échanges entre deux stations de bord, il appartient à la station appelée de fixer l'ordre de transmission.

Exchanges.

ARTICLE XXIX.

Lorsqu'une station côtière est saisie d'appels provenant de plusieurs stations de bord, elle décide de l'ordre dans lequel ces stations seront admises à échanger leurs correspondances.

Order of receiving at coastal stations.

Pour régler cet ordre, la station côtière s'inspire uniquement de la nécessité de permettre à toute station intéressée d'échanger le plus grand nombre possible de radiotélégrammes.

ARTICLE XXX.

Avant de commencer l'échange de la correspondance, la station côtière fait connaître à la station de bord si la transmission doit s'effectuer dans l'ordre alternatif ou par séries (article XXIII); elle commence ensuite la transmission ou fait suivre ces indications du signal — • —.

Preliminary signals.

ARTICLE XXXI.

[10] La transmission d'un radiotélégramme est précédée du signal — • — • — et terminée par le signal • — • — • suivi de l'indicatif de la station expéditrice et du signal — • —.

Transmitting messages.

Dans le cas d'une série de radiotélégrammes, l'indicatif de la station expéditrice et le signal — • — ne sont donnés qu'à la fin de la série.

ARTICLE XXXII.

Lorsque le radiotélégramme à transmettre contient plus de 40 mots, la station expéditrice interrompt la transmission par le signal • • — • — • • après chaque série de 20 mots environ, et elle ne reprend la transmission qu'après avoir obtenu de la station correspondante la répétition du dernier mot bien reçu, suivi du dit signal, ou, si la réception est bonne, le signal — • —.

Long messages.

Dans le cas de transmission par séries, l'accusé de réception est donné après chaque radiotélégramme.

Series messages.

Les stations côtières occupées à transmettre de longs radiotélégrammes doivent suspendre la transmission à la fin de chaque période de 15 minutes, et rester silencieuses pendant une durée de 3 minutes avant de continuer la transmission.

Intermission required.

Les stations côtières et de bord qui travaillent dans les conditions prévues à l'article XXXV, paragraphe 2, doivent suspendre le travail à la fin de chaque période de 15 minutes et faire l'écoute sur la longueur d'onde de 600 mètres pendant une durée de 3 minutes avant de continuer la transmission.

ARTICLE XXXIII.

1. Lorsque les signaux deviennent douteux, il importe d'avoir recours à toutes les ressources possibles pour l'achèvement de la transmission. A cet effet, le radiotélégramme est transmis trois fois au plus, à la demande de la station réceptrice. Si malgré cette triple transmission, les signaux sont toujours illisibles, le radiotélégramme est annulé.

Doubtful signals.

Acknowledgment of receipt.

Si l'accusé de réception n'est pas reçu, la station transmettrice appelle de nouveau la station correspondante. Lorsqu'aucune réponse n'est faite après trois appels, la transmission n'est pas poursuivie. Dans ce cas, la station transmettrice a la faculté d'obtenir l'accusé de réception par l'intermédiaire d'une autre station radiotélégraphique, en utilisant, le cas échéant, les lignes du réseau télégraphique.

Forwarding doubtful messages.

2. Si la station réceptrice juge que, malgré une réception défectueuse, le radiotélégramme peut être remis, elle inscrit à la fin du préambule la mention de service: "Réception douteuse" et donne cours au radiotélégramme. Dans ce cas, l'Administration dont relève la station côtière réclame les taxes, conformément à l'article XLII du présent Règlement. Toutefois, si la station de bord transmet ultérieurement le radiotélégramme à une autre station côtière de la même Administration, celle-ci ne peut réclamer que les taxes afférentes à une seule transmission.

Post, p. 1697.

Acknowledging receipt and ending.

d. Accusé de réception et fin du travail.

ARTICLE XXXIV.

Form of receipt.

1. L'accusé de réception se donne dans la forme prescrite par le Règlement télégraphique international; il est précédé de l'indicatif de la station transmettrice et suivi de l'indicatif de la station réceptrice.

Conclusion signal.

2. La fin du travail entre deux stations est indiquée par chacune d'elles au moyen du signal . . . — — — suivi de son propre indicatif.

Directions for sending.

e. Direction à donner aux radiotélégrammes.

ARTICLE XXXV.

From shipboard stations.

1. En principe, la station de bord transmet ses radiotélégrammes à la station côtière la plus rapprochée.

Cependant si la station de bord peut choisir entre plusieurs stations côtières se trouvant à distances égales ou à peu près égales, elle donne la préférence à celle qui est établie sur le territoire du pays de destination ou de transit normal de ses radiotélégrammes.

[11] 2. Toutefois, un expéditeur à bord d'un navire a le droit d'indiquer la station côtière par laquelle il désire que son radiotélégramme soit expédié. La station de bord attend alors jusqu'à ce que cette station côtière soit la plus rapprochée.

Exceptional cases.

Exceptionnellement la transmission peut s'effectuer à une station côtière plus éloignée, pourvu que:

- (a) le radiotélégramme soit destiné au pays où est située cette station côtière et émane d'un navire dépendant de ce pays;
- (b) pour les appels et la transmission, les deux stations utilisent une longueur d'onde de 1,800 mètres;
- (c) la transmission par cette longueur d'onde ne trouble pas une transmission effectuée, au moyen de la même longueur d'onde, par une station côtière plus rapprochée;
- (d) la station de bord se trouve à une distance de plus de 50 milles nautiques de toute station côtière indiquée dans la Nomenclature. La distance de 50 milles peut être réduite à 25 milles sous la réserve que la puissance maxima aux bornes de la génératrice n'excède pas 5 kilowatts et que les stations de bord soient établies en conformité des articles VII et VIII. Cette réduction de distance n'est pas applicable dans les mers, baies ou golfes dont les rives appartiennent à un seul pays et dont l'ouverture sur la haute mer a moins de 100 milles.

7. Remise des radiotélégrammes à destination.

Delivery of messages.

ARTICLE XXXVI.

Lorsque pour une cause quelconque un radiotélégramme provenant d'un navire en mer et destiné à la terre ferme ne peut être remis au destinataire, il est émis un avis de non-remise. Cet avis est transmis à la station côtière qui a reçu le radiotélégramme primitif. Cette dernière, après vérification de l'adresse, réexpédie l'avis au navire, s'il est possible, au besoin par l'intermédiaire d'une autre station côtière du même pays ou d'un pays voisin.

Notice of non-delivery.

Lorsqu'un radiotélégramme parvenu à une station de bord ne peut-être remis, cette station en fait part au bureau ou à la station de bord d'origine par avis de service. Dans le cas des radiotélégrammes émanant de la terre ferme, cet avis est transmis, autant que possible, à la station côtière par laquelle a transité le radiotélégramme, ou, le cas échéant, à une autre station côtière du même pays ou d'un pays voisin.

ARTICLE XXXVII.

Si le navire auquel est destiné un radiotélégramme n'a pas signalé sa présence à la station côtière dans le délai indiqué par l'expéditeur ou, à défaut d'une telle indication, jusqu'au matin du 8^e jour suivant, cette station côtière en donne avis au bureau d'origine qui en informe l'expéditeur.

Messages for ships not signaling.

Celui-ci a la faculté de demander par avis de service taxé, télégraphique ou postal, adressé à la station côtière, que son radiotélégramme soit retenu pendant une nouvelle période de 9 jours pour être transmis au navire et ainsi de suite. A défaut d'une telle demande, le radiotélégramme est mis au rebut à la fin du 9^e jour (jour de dépôt non compris).

Cependant si la station côtière a la certitude que le navire est sorti de son rayon d'action ayant qu'elle ait pu lui transmettre le radiotélégramme, elle en informe immédiatement le bureau d'origine, qui avise sans retard l'expéditeur de l'annulation du message. Toutefois, l'expéditeur peut, par avis de service taxé, demander à la station côtière de transmettre le radiotélégramme au plus prochain passage du navire.

[12]

8. Radiotélégrammes spéciaux

Special radiograms.

ARTICLE XXXVIII.

Sont seuls admis:

1^o LES RADIOTÉLÉGRAMMES AVEC RÉPONSE PAYÉE. Ces radiotélégrammes portent, avant l'adresse, l'indication "Réponse payée" ou "RP" complétée par la mention du montant payé d'avance pour la réponse, soit: "Réponse payée fr. x," ou: "RP fr. x;"

Limitations.

Le bon de réponse émis à bord d'un navire donne la faculté d'expédier, dans la limite de sa valeur, un radiotélégramme à une destination quelconque à partir de la station de bord qui a émis ce bon.

2^o LES RADIOTÉLÉGRAMMES AVEC COLLATIONNEMENT;

3^o LES RADIOTÉLÉGRAMMES À REMETTRE PAR EXPRES. Mais seulement dans les cas où le montant des frais d'express est perçu sur la destinataire. Les pays qui ne peuvent adopter ces radiotélégrammes doivent en faire la déclaration au Bureau international. Les radiotélégrammes à remettre par express avec frais perçus sur l'expéditeur peuvent être admis lorsqu'ils sont destinés au pays sur le territoire duquel se trouve la station côtière correspondante.

- 4° LES RADIOTÉLÉGRAMMES A REMETTRE PAR POSTE;
 5° LES RADIOTÉLÉGRAMMES MULTIPLES;
 6° LES RADIOTÉLÉGRAMMES AVEC ACCUSÉ DE RÉCEPTION. Mais seulement en ce qui concerne la notification de la date et de l'heure auxquelles la station côtière a transmis à la station de bord le télégramme adressé à cette dernière;
 7° LES AVIS DE SERVICE TAXÉS. Sauf ceux qui demandent une répétition ou un renseignement. Toutefois, tous les avis de service taxés sont admis sur le parcours des lignes télégraphiques;
 8° LES RADIOTÉLÉGRAMMES URGENTS. Mais seulement sur le parcours des lignes télégraphiques et sous réserve de l'application du Règlement télégraphique international.

ARTICLE XXXIX.

To be forwarded by mail.

Les radiotélégrammes peuvent être transmis par une station côtière à un navire, ou par un navire à un autre navire, en vue d'une réexpédition par la voie postale à effectuer à partir d'un port d'atterrissage du navire réceptionnaire.

Ces radiotélégrammes ne comportent aucune retransmission radiotélégraphique.

L'adresse de ces radiotélégrammes doit être libellée ainsi qu'il suit:

- 1° Indication taxée "poste" suivie du nom du port où le radiotélégramme doit être remis à la poste;
- 2° Nom et adresse complète du destinataire;
- 3° Nom de la station de bord qui doit effectuer le dépôt à la poste;
- 4° Le cas échéant, nom de la station côtière.

Exemple: Poste Buenosaires Martinez 14 Calle Prat Valparaiso Avon Lizard.

La taxe comprend outre les taxes radiotélégraphiques et télégraphiques une somme de 25 centimes pour l'affranchissement postal du radiotélégramme.

Fees.

9. Archives.

ARTICLE XL.

Retention of originals.

Les originaux des radiotélégrammes, ainsi que les documents y relatifs retenus par les Administrations, sont conservés avec toutes les précautions nécessaires au point de vue du secret au moins pendant 15 mois, à compter du mois qui suit celui du dépôt des radiotélégrammes.

Transmission to management.

[13] Ces originaux et documents sont, autant que possible, envoyés au moins une fois par mois, par les stations de bord, aux Administrations dont elles relèvent.

Rebates and reimbursements.

10. Détaxes et remboursements.

ARTICLE XLI.

Telegraph regulations applicable.

1. En ce qui concerne les détaxes et remboursements il est fait application du Règlement télégraphique international en tenant compte des restrictions indiquées aux articles XXXVIII et XXXIX du présent Règlement, et sous les réserves suivantes:

Reservations.

Le temps employé à la transmission radiotélégraphique, ainsi que la durée du séjour du radiotélégramme dans la station côtière pour les radiotélégrammes à destination des navires, ou dans la station de bord pour les radiotélégrammes originaires des navires, ne comptent pas dans les délais concernant les détaxes et remboursements.

Si la station côtière fait connaître au bureau d'origine qu'un radiotélégramme ne peut être transmis au navire destinataire, l'Administration du pays d'origine provoque aussitôt le remboursement à l'expéditeur des taxes côtière et de bord relatives à ce radiotélégramme. Dans ce cas, les taxes remboursées n'entrent pas dans les comptes prévus par l'article XLII, mais le radiotélégramme y est mentionné pour mémoire.

Le remboursement est supporté par les différentes Administrations et exploitations privées qui ont participé à l'acheminement du radiotélégramme, chacune d'elles abandonnant sa part de taxe. Toutefois les radiotélégrammes auxquels sont applicables les articles 7 et 8 de la Convention de St-Petersbourg restent soumis aux dispositions du Règlement télégraphique international, sauf lorsque l'acceptation de ces radiotélégrammes est le résultat d'une erreur de service.

Post, p. 1730.

2. Lorsque l'accusé de réception d'un radiotélégramme n'est pas parvenu à la station qui a transmis le message, la taxe n'est remboursée que lorsqu'il a été établi que le radiotélégramme donne lieu à remboursement.

Messages not received.

11. Comptabilité.

Accounts.

ARTICLE XLII.

1. Les taxes côtières et de bord n'entrent pas dans les comptes prévus par le Règlement télégraphique international.

Coastal and ship-board charges.

Les comptes concernant ces taxes sont liquidés par les Administrations des pays intéressés. Ils sont établis par les Administrations dont dépendent les stations côtières et communiqués par elles aux Administrations intéressées. Dans le cas où l'exploitation des stations côtières est indépendante de l'Administration du pays, l'exploitant de ces stations peut être substitué, en ce qui concerne les comptes, à l'Administration de ce pays.

2. Pour la transmission sur les lignes télégraphiques, le radiotélégramme est traité, au point de vue des comptes, conformément au Règlement télégraphique.

Telegraph transmission.

3. Pour les radiotélégrammes originaux des navires, l'Administration dont dépend la station côtière débite l'Administration dont dépend la station de bord d'origine des taxes côtières et télégraphiques ordinaires, des taxes totales perçues pour les réponses payées, des taxes côtières et télégraphiques perçues pour le collationnement, des taxes afférentes à la remise par exprès (dans le cas prévu par l'article XXXVIII) ou par poste et de celles perçues pour les copies supplémentaires (TM). L'Administration dont dépend la station côtière, créditée, le cas échéant, par la voie des comptes télégraphiques et par l'intermédiaire des Offices ayant participé à la transmission des radiotélégrammes, l'Administration dont dépend le bureau de destination, des taxes totales relatives aux réponses payées. En ce qui concerne les taxes télégraphiques et les taxes relatives à la remise par exprès ou par poste et aux copies supplémentaires, il est procédé conformément au Règlement télégraphique, la station côtière étant considérée comme bureau télégraphique d'origine.

Messages from ships.

Pour les radiotélégrammes à destination d'un pays situé au delà de celui auquel appartient la station côtière, les taxes télégraphiques à liquider conformément aux dispositions ci-dessus sont celles qui résultent, soit des tableaux "A" et "B" annexés au Règlement télégraphique international, soit d'arrangements spéciaux conclus entre les Administrations de pays limitrophes et publiés par ces Administrations, et non [14] les taxes qui pourraient être perçues, d'après les dispositions particulières des articles XXIII, § 1, et XXVII, § 1, du Règlement télégraphique.

For other countries.

Messages to ships.

Pour les radiotélégrammes et les avis de service taxés à destination des navires, l'Administration dont dépend le bureau d'origine est débitée directement par celle dont dépend la station côtière des taxes côtière et de bord. Toutefois les taxes totales afférentes aux réponses payées sont créditées, s'il y a lieu, de pays à pays, par la voie des comptes télégraphiques, jusqu'à l'Administration dont dépend la station côtière. En ce qui concerne les taxes télégraphiques et les taxes relatives à la remise par poste et aux copies supplémentaires, il est procédé conformément au Règlement télégraphique. L'Administration dont dépend la station côtière crédite celle dont dépend le navire destinataire de la taxe de bord, s'il y a lieu des taxes revenant aux stations de bord intermédiaire de la taxe totale perçue pour les réponses payées, de la taxe de bord relative au collationnement, ainsi que des taxes perçues pour l'établissement de copies supplémentaires et pour la remise par poste.

Les avis de service taxés et les réponses payées elles-mêmes sont traités dans les comptes radiotélégraphiques, sous tous les rapports, comme les autres radiotélégrammes.

Through intermediary ships.

Pour les radiotélégrammes acheminés au moyen d'une ou deux stations de bord intermédiaires, chacune de celles-ci débite la station de bord d'origine, s'il s'agit d'un radiotélégramme provenant d'un navire, ou celle de destination s'il s'agit d'un radiotélégramme destiné à un navire, de la taxe de bord lui revenant pour le transit.

Between ships.

4. En principe, la liquidation des comptes afférents aux échanges entre stations de bord se fait directement entre les compagnies exploitant ces stations, la station d'origine étant débitée par la station de destination.

Monthly accounts.

5. Les comptes mensuels servant de base à la comptabilité spéciale des radiotélégrammes sont établis radiotélégramme par radiotélégramme avec toutes les indications utiles et dans un délai de six mois à partir du mois auquel ils se rapportent.

Special agreements.

6. Les Gouvernements se réservent la faculté de prendre entre eux et avec des compagnies privées (entrepreneurs exploitant des stations radiotélégraphiques, compagnies de navigation, &c.) des arrangements spéciaux en vue de l'adoption d'autres dispositions concernant la comptabilité.

International Bureau.13. Bureau international.*ARTICLE XLIII.*Maximum expenses.

Les dépenses supplémentaires, résultant du fonctionnement du Bureau international, en ce qui concerne la radiotélégraphie, ne doivent pas dépasser 80,000 francs par an, non compris les frais spéciaux auxquels donne lieu la réunion d'une Conférence internationale. Les administrations des États contractants sont, pour la contribution aux frais, réparties en six classes ainsi qu'il suit:

Classification of quotas.1^{re} classe:

Union de l'Afrique du Sud; Allemagne; États-Unis d'Amérique; Alaska; Hawaï et les autres Possessions américaines de la Polynésie; Îles Philippines; Porto Rico et les Possessions américaines dans les Antilles; Zone du Canal de Panama; République Argentine; Australie; Autriche; Brésil; Canada; France; Grande-Bretagne; Hongrie; Indes Britanniques; Italie; Japon; Nouvelle-Zélande; Russie; Turquie.

4^e classe:

Afrique orientale allemande; Afrique allemande du Sud-Ouest; Camérout; Togo; Protectorats allemands du Pacifique; Danemark; Égypte; Indo-Chine; Mexique; Siam; Uruguay.

5^e classe:

[15] 6^e classe:

Afrique équatoriale française; Afrique occidentale portugaise; Afrique orientale portugaise et possessions asiatiques; Boukhara; Congo belge; Colonie de Curaçao; Colonie espagnole du Golfe de Guinée; Érythrée; Khiva; Maroc; Monaco; Perse; S. Marin; Somalie italienne.

ARTICLE XLIV.

Les différentes Administrations font parvenir au Bureau international un tableau conforme au modèle ci-joint et contenant les indications énumérées dans le dit tableau pour les stations visées à l'article V du Règlement. Les modifications survenues et les suppléments sont communiqués par les Administrations au Bureau international du 1^{er} au 10 de chaque mois. A l'aide de ces communications, le Bureau international dresse la Nomenclature prévue par l'article V. La Nomenclature est distribuée aux Administrations intéressées. Elle peut également, avec les suppléments y relatifs, être vendue au public au prix de revient.

Le Bureau international veille à ce que l'adoption d'indicatifs identiques pour les stations radiotélégraphiques soit évitée.

Data required.
Post, p. 1704.

Post, p. 1705.

Call letters not to be duplicated.

13. Transmissions météorologiques, horaires et autres.

Meteorological, etc., information.

ARTICLE XLV.

1. Les Administrations prennent les dispositions nécessaires pour faire parvenir à leurs stations côtières les télégrammes météorologiques contenant les indications intéressant la région de ces stations. Ces télégrammes, dont le texte ne doit pas dépasser 20 mots, sont transmis aux navires qui en font la demande. La taxe de ces télégrammes météorologiques est portée au compte des navires destinataires.

Coastal service.

2. Les observations météorologiques, faites par certains navires désignés à cet effet par le pays dont ils dépendent, peuvent être transmises une fois par jour, comme avis de services taxés, aux stations côtières autorisées à les recevoir par les Administrations intéressées qui désignent également les bureaux météorologiques auxquels ces observations sont adressées par les stations côtières.

Shipboard service.

3. Les signaux horaires et les télégrammes météorologiques sont transmis à la suite les uns des autres de manière que la durée totale de leur transmission n'excède pas dix minutes. En principe, pendant cet envoi, toutes les stations radiotélégraphiques dont la transmission peut troubler la réception de ces signaux et télégrammes, font silence de façon à permettre à toutes les stations qui le désirent de recevoir ces télégrammes et signaux. Exception est faite pour les cas de détresse et les télégrammes d'État.

Transmission of time, etc., signals.

4. Les Administrations facilitent la communication aux agences d'informations maritimes qu'elles agrèent des renseignements concernant les avaries et sinistres maritimes ou présentant un intérêt général pour la navigation dont les stations côtières peuvent régulièrement donner communication.

Maritime information.

Miscellaneous.

14. Dispositions diverses.

ARTICLE XLVI.

Exchange between
shipboard stations.

Les transmissions échangées entre les stations de bord doivent s'effectuer de manière à ne pas troubler le service des stations côtières, celles-ci devant avoir, en règle générale, le droit de priorité pour la correspondance publique.

ARTICLE XLVII.

Retransmission.

Les stations côtières et les stations de bord sont tenues de participer à la retransmission des radiotélégrammes dans les cas où la communication ne peut s'établir directement entre les stations d'origine et de destination.

Le nombre des retransmissions est toutefois limité à deux.

En ce qui concerne les radiotélégrammes destinés à la terre ferme il ne peut être fait usage des retransmissions que pour atteindre la station côtière la plus rapprochée.

La retransmission est dans tous les cas subordonnée à la condition que la station intermédiaire qui reçoit le radiotélégramme en transit soit en mesure de lui donner cours.

ARTICLE XLVIII.

Messages through noncontracting countries.

Si le parcours d'un radiotélégramme s'effectue en partie sur des lignes télégraphiques ou par des stations radiotélégraphiques relevant d'un Gouvernement non contractant, il peut être donné cours à ce radiotélégramme, sous la réserve, tout au moins, que les Administrations dont dépendent ces lignes ou ces stations aient déclaré vouloir appliquer, le cas échéant, les dispositions de la Convention et du Règlement qui sont indispensables pour l'acheminement régulier des radiotélégrammes et que la comptabilité soit assurée.

Cette déclaration est faite au Bureau international et portée à la connaissance des Offices de l'Union télégraphique.

ARTICLE XLIX.

Effect of modifications.

Les modifications du présent Règlement qui seraient rendues nécessaires par suite des décisions des Conférences télégraphiques ultérieures seront mises en vigueur à la date fixée pour l'application des dispositions arrêtées par chacune de ces dernières Conférences.

ARTICLE L.

Application of International Telegraph Regulations.

Les dispositions du Règlement télégraphique international sont applicables, par analogie, à la correspondance radiotélégraphique en tant qu'elles ne sont pas contraires aux dispositions du présent Règlement.

Specified provisions.

Sont applicables, en particulier, à la correspondance radiotélégraphique les prescriptions de l'Article XXVII, paragraphes 3 à 6, du Règlement télégraphique, relatives à la perception des taxes, celles des Articles XXVI et XLI relatives à l'indication de la voie à suivre, celles des Articles LXXV, paragraphe 1, LXXVIII, paragraphes 2 à 4, et LXXIX, paragraphes 2 et 4, relatives à l'établissement des comptes. Toutefois: 1° Le délai de 6 mois prévu par le paragraphe 2 de l'Article LXXIX du Règlement télégraphique pour la vérification des comptes est porté à 9 mois en ce qui concerne les radiotélégrammes; 2° les dispositions de l'Article XVI, paragraphe 2, ne sont pas considérées comme autorisant la transmission gratuite, par les stations radiotélégraphiques, des télégrammes de service concern-ant exclusivement le service télégraphique non plus que la transmission en franchise, sur les lignes télégraphiques, des télégrammes de service exclusivement relatifs au service radiotélégraphique: 3° les dispositions de l'Article LXXIX, paragraphes 3 et 5, ne sont pas applicables à la comptabilité radiotélégraphique. En vue de l'application des dispositions du Règlement télégraphique, les stations côtières sont considérées comme bureaux de transit, sauf quand le Règlement radiotélégraphique stipule expressément que ces stations doivent être considérées comme bureaux d'origine ou de destination.

Conformément à l'article 11 de la Convention de Londres le présent Règlement entrera en vigueur le 1^{er} juillet 1913.

En foi de quoi les Plénipotentiaires respectifs ont signé ce Règlement en un exemplaire qui restera déposé aux archives du Gouvernement britannique et dont une copie sera remise à chaque Partie.

Contracting Powers.

The undersigned, plenipotentiaries of the Governments of the countries enumerated above, having met in conference at London, have agreed on the following Convention, subject to ratification:

ARTICLE 1.

The High Contracting Parties bind themselves to apply the provisions of the present Convention to all radio stations (both coastal stations and stations on shipboard) which are established or worked by the Contracting Parties and open to public service between the coast and vessels at sea.

Government public stations bound.

They further bind themselves to make the observance of these provisions obligatory upon private enterprises authorized either to establish or work coastal stations for radiotelegraphy open to public service between the coast and vessels at sea, or to establish or work radio stations, whether open to general public service or not, on board of vessels flying their flag.

Applicable to private commercial stations, and to ships.

ARTICLE 2.

By "coastal stations" is to be understood every radio station established on shore or on board a permanently moored vessel used for the exchange of correspondence with ships at sea.

Coastal stations.

Every radio station established on board any vessel not permanently moored is called a "station on shipboard."

Stations on shipboard.

ARTICLE 3.

The coastal stations and the stations on shipboard shall be bound to exchange radiograms without distinction of the radio system adopted by such stations.

Exchange of radiograms.

Every station on shipboard shall be bound to exchange radiograms with every other station on shipboard without distinction of the radio system adopted by such stations.

Between ships.

However, in order not to impede scientific progress, the provisions of the present Article shall not prevent the eventual employment of a radio system incapable of communicating with other systems, provided that such incapacity shall be due to the specific nature of such system and that it shall not be the result of devices adopted for the sole purpose of preventing intercommunication.

Use of nonintercommunicable systems.

ARTICLE 4.

Limited service stations.

Notwithstanding the provisions of Article 3, a station may be reserved for a limited public service determined by the object of the correspondence or by other circumstances independent of the system employed.

ARTICLE 5.

Connections with telegraph systems.

Each of the High Contracting Parties undertakes to connect the coastal stations to the telegraph system by special wires, or, at least, to take other measures which will insure a rapid exchange between the coastal stations and the telegraph system.

ARTICLE 6.

Data to be furnished mutually.

The High Contracting Parties shall notify one another of the names of coastal stations and stations on shipboard referred to in Article 1, and also of all data, necessary to facilitate and accelerate the exchange of radiograms, as specified in the Regulations.

ARTICLE 7.

Use of special devices.

Each of the High Contracting Parties reserves the right to prescribe or permit at the stations referred to in Article 1, apart from the installation the data of which are to be published in conformity with Article 6, the installation and working of other devices for the purpose of establishing special radio communication without publishing the details of such devices.

ARTICLE 8.

Interference to be avoided.

The working of the radio stations shall be organized as far as possible in such manner as not to disturb the service of other radio stations.

ARTICLE 9.

Priority to distress calls.

Radio stations are bound to give absolutely priority to calls of distress from whatever source, to similarly answer such calls and to take such action with regard thereto as may be required.

ARTICLE 10.

Charges.

The charge for a radiogram shall comprise, according to the circumstances:

1. (a) The coastal rate, which shall fall to the coastal station;
- (b) The shipboard rate, which shall fall to the shipboard station.
2. The charge for transmission over the telegraph lines, to be computed according to the ordinary rules.
3. The charges for transit through the intermediate coastal or shipboard stations and the charges for special services requested by the sender.

The coastal rate shall be subject to the approval of the Government of which the coastal station is dependent, and the shipboard rate to the approval of the Government of which the ship is dependent.

ARTICLE 11.

The provisions of the present Convention are supplemented by Regulations, which shall have the same force and go into effect at the same time as the Convention. Regulations authorized.
Post, p. 171A.

The provisions of the present Convention and of the Regulations relating thereto may at any time be modified by the High Contracting Parties by common consent. Conferences of plenipotentiaries having power to modify the Convention and the Regulations, shall take place from time to time; each conference shall fix the time and place of the next meeting. Modifications by subsequent conferences.

ARTICLE 12.

Such conferences shall be composed of delegates of the Governments of the contracting countries.

In the deliberations each country shall have but one vote.

If a Government adheres to the Convention for its colonies, possessions or protectorates, subsequent conferences may decide that such colonies, possessions or protectorates, or a part thereof, shall be considered as forming a country as regards the application of the preceding paragraph. But the number of votes at the disposal of one Government, including its colonies, possessions or protectorates, shall in no case exceed six. Conferences.

ARTICLE 21.

The High Contracting Parties shall preserve their entire liberty as regards radio installations other than provided for in Article 1, especially naval and military installations, and stations used for communications between fixed points. FINAL PROTOCOL

Final protocol.

At the moment of signing the Convention adopted by the International Radiotelegraph Conference of London, the undersigned plenipotentiaries have agreed as follows:

I.

Bosnia-Herzegovina.
Classification of vote.

The exact nature of the adherence notified on the part of Bosnia-Herzegovina not yet being determined, it is recognized that one vote shall be assigned to Bosnia-Herzegovina but that a decision will be necessary at a later date as to whether this vote belongs to Bosnia-Herzegovina in virtue of the second paragraph of Article 12 of the Convention, or whether this vote is accorded to it in conformity with the provisions of the third paragraph of that Article.

II.

Note is taken of the following declaration:

The Delegation of the United States declares that its government is under the necessity of abstaining from all action with regard to rates, because the transmission of radiograms as well as of ordinary telegrams in the United States is carried on, wholly or in part, by commercial or private companies.

United States.
Reservation as to rates.

III.

Note is likewise taken of the following declaration:

The Government of Canada reserves the right to fix separately, for each of its coastal stations, a total maritime rate for radiograms proceeding from North America and destined for any ship whatever, the coastal rate amounting to three-fifths and the shipboard rate to two-fifths of the total rate.

Canada.
Reservation as to rates.

In witness whereof the respective plenipotentiaries have drawn up the present Final Protocol, which shall be of the same force and effect as though the provisions thereof had been embodied in the text of the Convention itself to which it has reference, and they have signed one copy of the same, which shall be deposited in the archives of the British Government, and a copy of which shall be transmitted to each of the Parties.

RADIOTELEGRAPH CONVENTION, LONDON, 1912.

[Translation.]

Organisation. .

1. ORGANIZATION OF RADIO STATIONS.

ARTICLE I.

Choice of apparatus unrestricted.

The choice of radio apparatus and devices to be used by the coastal stations and stations on shipboard shall be unrestricted. The installation of such stations shall as far as possible keep pace with scientific and technical progress.

ARTICLE II.

Wave lengths.
Coastal stations.

Two wave lengths, one of 600 meters and the other of 300 meters, are authorized for general public service. Every coastal station opened to such service shall be equipped in such manner as to be able to use these two wave lengths, one of which shall be designated as the normal wave length of the station. During the whole time that a coastal station is open it shall be in condition to receive calls according to its normal wave length. For the correspondence specified under paragraph 2 of Article XXXV, however, a wave length of 1,800 meters shall be used. In addition, each Government may authorize in coastal stations the employment of other wave lengths designed to insure long-range service or any service other than for general public correspondence established in conformity with the provisions of the Convention under the reservation that such wave lengths do not exceed 600 meters or that they do exceed 1,600 meters.

Long range or special service.

In particular, stations used exclusively for sending signals designed to determine the position of ships shall not employ wave lengths exceeding 150 meters.

ARTICLE III.

Shipboard stations.

1. Every station on shipboard shall be equipped in such manner as to be able to use wave lengths of 600 meters and of 300 meters. The first shall be the normal wave length and may not be exceeded for transmission except in the case referred to under Article XXXV (paragraph 2).

Other wave lengths, less than 600 meters, may be used in special cases and under the approval of the managements to which the coastal and shipboard stations concerned are subject.

2. During the whole time that a station on shipboard is open it shall be able to receive calls according to its normal wave length.

Small vessels.

3. Vessels of small tonnage which are unable to use a wave length of 600 meters for transmission; may be authorized to employ exclusively the wave length of 300; they must be able to receive a wave length of 600 meters.

ARTICLE IV.

Communications between coastal and
shipboard stations.

Communication between a coastal station and a station on shipboard shall be exchanged on the part of both by means of the same wave length. If, in a particular case, communication is difficult, the two stations may, by mutual consent, pass from the wave length with which they are communicating to the other regulation wave length. Both stations shall resume their normal wave length when the exchange of radiograms is finished.

ARTICLE V.

1. The International Bureau shall draw up, publish, and revise from time to time an official chart showing the coastal stations, their normal ranges, the principal lines of navigation, and the time normally taken by ships for the voyage between the different ports of call.

International Bureau.
Official station chart.

2. It shall draw up and publish a list of radio stations of the class referred to in Article I of the Convention, and from time to time supplements covering additions and modifications. Such list shall contain for each station the following data:

List of stations.

(1) In the case of coastal stations; name, nationality and geographical location indicated by the territorial subdivision and the latitude and longitude of the place; in the case of stations on shipboard; name and nationality of the ship; when the case arises, the name and address of the party working the station;

Data.

(2) The call letters (the calls shall be distinguishable from one another and each must be formed of a group of three letters);

(3) The normal range;

(4) The radio system with the characteristics of the transmitting system (musical sparks, tonality expressed by the number of double vibrations, etc.);

(5) The wave lengths used (the normal wave length to be underscored);

(6) The nature of the services carried on;

(7) The hours during which the station is open;

(8) When the case arises, the hour and method of transmitting time signals and meteorological telegrams;

(9) The coastal rate or shipboard rate.

3. The list shall also contain such data relating to radio stations other than those specified in Article I of the Convention as may be communicated to the International Bureau by the management of the Radio Service ("administration") to which such stations are subject, provided that such managements are either adherents to the Convention or, if not adherents, have made the declaration referred to in Article XLVIII.

Other data.

4. The following notations shall be adopted in documents for use by the International Service to designate radio stations:

Station designations.

PG Station open to general public correspondence.

PR Station open to limited public correspondence.

P Station of private interest.

O Station open exclusively to official correspondence.

N Station having continuous service.

X Station having no fixed working hours.

5. The name of a station on shipboard appearing in the first column of the list shall be followed, in case there are two or more vessels of the same name, by the call letters of such station.

Shipboard stations.

ARTICLE VI.

The exchange of superfluous signals and words is prohibited to stations of the class referred to in Article I of the Convention. Experiments and practice will be permitted in such stations in so far as they do not interfere with the service of other stations.

Superfluous signals prohibited.

Practice shall be carried on with wave lengths different from those authorized for public correspondence, and with the minimum of power necessary.

ARTICLE VII.

Energy requirements.

1. All stations are bound to carry on the service with the minimum of energy necessary to insure safe communication.

2. Every coastal or shipboard station shall comply with the following requirements:

(a) The waves sent out shall be as pure and as little damped as possible;

In particular, the use of transmitting devices in which the waves sent out are obtained by means of sparks directly in the aerial (plain aerial) shall not be authorized except in cases of distress.

It may, however, be permitted in the case of certain special stations (those of small vessels for example) in which the primary power does not exceed 50 watts.

(b) The apparatus shall be able to transmit and receive at a speed equal to at least 20 words a minute, words to be counted at the rate of 5 letters each.

New installations using more than 50 watts shall be equipped in such a way as to make it possible to obtain with ease several ranges less than the normal range, the shortest being approximately 15 nautical miles. Existing installations using more than 50 watts shall be remodeled, wherever possible, so as to comply with the foregoing provisions.

(c) Receiving apparatus shall be able to receive, with the greatest possible protection against interference, transmissions of the wave lengths specified in the present Regulations, up to 600 meters.

3. Stations serving solely for determining the position of ships (radiophares) shall not operate over a radius greater than 30 nautical miles.

ARTICLE VIII.

Special shipboard conditions.

Independently of the general requirements specified under Article VII, stations on shipboard shall likewise comply with the following requirements:

(a) The power transmitted to the radio apparatus, measured at the terminals of the generator of the station, shall not, under normal conditions, exceed one kilowatt.

(b) Subject to the provisions of Article XXXV, paragraph 2, power exceeding one kilowatt may be employed when the vessel finds it necessary to correspond while more than 200 nautical miles distant from the nearest coastal station, or when, owing to unusual circumstances, communication can be established only by means of an increase of power.

ARTICLE IX.

Shipboard stations
to be licensed.

1. No station on shipboard shall be established or worked by private enterprise without a license issued by the Government to which the vessel is subject.

Stations on board of ships having their port of registry in a colony, possession, or protectorate may be described as subject to the authority of such colony, possession, or protectorate.

Recognition of official license.

2. Every shipboard station holding a license issued by one of the contracting Governments shall be considered by the other Governments as having an installation fulfilling the requirements stipulated in the present Regulations.

Competent authorities of the countries at which the ship calls may demand the production of the license. In default of such production, these authorities may satisfy themselves as to whether the radio installations of the ship fulfill the requirements imposed by the present regulations.

When the management of the radio service of a country is convinced by its working that a station on shipboard does not fulfill the requirements, it shall, in every case, address a complaint to the management of the radio service of the country to which such ship is a subject. The subsequent procedure, when necessary, shall be the same as that prescribed in Article XII, paragraph 2.

Complaints of service.

ARTICLE X.

1. The service of the station on shipboard shall be carried on by a telegraph operator holding a certificate issued by the Government to which the vessel is subject, or, in case of necessity and for one voyage only, by some other adhering Government.

Operator's certificate.

2. There shall be two classes of certificates:

The first class certificate shall attest the professional efficiency of the operator as regards:

First class.

(a) Adjustment of the apparatus and knowledge of its functioning;

(b) Transmission and acoustic reception at the rate of not less than 20 words a minute;

(c) Knowledge of the regulations governing the exchange of radio correspondence.

The second class certificate may be issued to operators who are able to transmit and receive at a rate of only 12 to 19 words a minute but who, in other respects, fulfill the requirements mentioned above. Operators holding second class certificates may be permitted on:

Second class.

(a) Vessels which use radiotelegraphy only in their own service and in the correspondence of their crews, fishing vessels in particular;

(b) All vessels, as substitutes, provided such vessels have on board at least one operator holding a first-class certificate. However, on vessels classed under the first category indicated in Article XIII, the service shall be carried on by at least two telegraph operators holding first-class certificates.

In the stations on shipboard, transmissions shall be made only by operators holding first or second-class certificates except in cases of necessity where it would be impossible to conform to this provision.

Transmissions.

(3) The certificate shall furthermore state that the Government has bound the operator to secrecy with regard to the correspondence.

Secrecy required.

4. The radio service of the station on shipboard shall be under the superior authority of the commanding officer of the ship.

Superior authority.

ARTICLE XI.

Ships provided with radio installations and classed under the first two categories indicated in Article XIII are bound to have radio installations for distress calls all the elements of which shall be kept under conditions of the greatest possible safety to be determined by the Government issuing the license. Such emergency installations shall have their own source of energy, be capable of quickly being set into operation, of functioning for at least six hours, and have a minimum range of 80 nautical miles for ships of the first category and 50 miles for those of the second. Such emergency installations shall not be required in the case of vessels the regular installations of which fulfill the requirements of the present Article.

Emergency distress installations.

ARTICLE XII.

If the management of the radio service of a country has knowledge of any infraction of the Convention or of the Regulations committed in any of the stations authorized by it, it shall ascertain the facts and fix the responsibility.

Responsibility for infractions.

In the case of stations on shipboard, if the operator is responsible for such infraction, the management of the radio service shall take the necessary measures, and, if the necessity should arise, withdraw the certificate. If it is ascertained that the infraction is the result of the condition of the apparatus or of instructions given the operator, the same method shall be pursued with regard to the license issued to the vessel.

Repeated infractions.

2. In cases of repeated infractions chargeable to the same vessel, if the representations made to the management of the country to which the vessel is subject by that of another country remain without effect, the latter shall be at liberty, after giving due notice, to authorize its coastal stations not to accept communications proceeding from the vessel at fault. In case of disagreement between the managements of the radio service of two countries, the question shall be submitted to arbitration at the request of either of the two Governments concerned. The procedure is indicated in Article 18 of the Convention.

Arbitration of disagreements.

Annex, p. 1710.

Hours of service at stations.

2. HOURS OF SERVICE OF STATIONS.

ARTICLE XIII.

Coastal stations.

(a) Coastal stations:

1. The service of coastal stations shall, as far as possible, be constant, day and night, without interruption.

Certain coastal stations, however, may have a service of limited duration. The management of the radio service of each country shall fix the hours of service.

2. The coastal stations whose service is not constant shall not close before having transmitted all their radiograms to the vessels which are within their radius of action, nor before having received from such vessels all the radiograms of which notice has been given. This provision is likewise applicable when vessels signal their presence before the actual cessation of work.

Shipboard stations.

(b) Stations on shipboard:

3. Stations on shipboard shall be classed under three categories:

- (1) Stations having constant service;
- (2) Stations having a service of limited duration;
- (3) Stations having no fixed working hours.

When the ship is under way, the following shipboard stations shall have an operator constantly listening in; 1st, Stations of the first category; 2nd, Those of the second category during the hours in which they are open to service. During the remaining hours, the last named stations shall have an operator at the radio instrument listening in during the first ten minutes of each hour. Stations of the third category are not bound to perform any regular service of listening in.

Classification of ships.

It shall fall to the Governments issuing the licenses specified in Article IX to fix the category in which the ship shall be classed as regards its obligations in the matter of listening in. Mention shall be made of such classification in the license.

Form and posting of radiograms.

3. FORM AND POSTING OF RADIOGRAMS.

ARTICLE XIV.

Notice of radio service.

1. Radiograms shall show, as the first word of the preamble, that the service is "radio."

Messages from ships.

2. In the transmission of radiograms proceeding from a ship at sea, the date and hour of posting at the shipboard station shall be stated in the preamble,

3. Upon forwarding a radiogram over the telegraph system, the coastal station shall show thereon as the office of origin, the name of the ship of origin as it appears in the list, and also when the case arises, that of the last ship which acted as intermediary. These data shall be followed by the name of the coastal station.

Rebwarding.

ARTICLE XV.

The address of radiograms intended for ships shall be as complete as possible.

Messages for ships.

It shall embrace the following:

- (a) The name or title of the addressee, with additional designations, if any;
- (b) The name of the vessel as it appears in the first column of the list;
- (c) The name of the coastal station as it appears in the list.

The name of the ship, however, may be replaced, at the sender's risk, by the designation of the route to be followed by such vessel, as determined by the names of the ports of departure and destination or by any other equivalent information.

2. In the address, the name of the ship as it appears in the first column of the list, shall, in all cases and independently of its length, be counted as one word.

3. Radiograms framed with the aid of the International Code of Signals shall be transmitted to their destination without being translated.

Code messages.

4. RATES.

Rates.

ARTICLE XVI.

1. The coastal rate and the shipboard rate shall be fixed in accordance with the tariff per word, pure and simple, on the basis of an equitable remuneration for the radio work, with an optional minimum rate per radiogram.

Maximum.

The coastal rate shall not exceed 60 centimes (11.6 cents) a word, and the shipboard rate shall not exceed 40 centimes (7.7 cents) a word. However, each management shall be at liberty to authorize coastal and shipboard rates higher than such maxima in the case of stations of ranges exceeding 400 nautical miles, or of stations whose work is exceptionally difficult owing to physical conditions in connection with the installation or working of the same.

The optional minimum rate per radiogram shall not be higher than the coastal rate or shipboard rate for a radiogram of ten words.

Minimum.

2. In the case of radiograms proceeding from or destined for a country and exchanged directly with the coastal stations of such country, the rate applicable to the transmission over the telegraph lines shall not, on the average, exceed the inland rate of such country.

Telegraph land service.

Such rate shall be computed per word, pure and simple, with an optional minimum rate which shall not exceed the rate for ten words. It shall be stated in francs by the management of the radio service of the country to which the coastal station is subject.

In the case of countries of the European system, with the exception of Russia and Turkey, there shall be but one rate for the territory of each country.

European countries.

ARTICLE XVII.

1. When a radiogram proceeding from a ship and intended for the coast passes through one or two shipboard stations, the charges shall comprise, in addition to the rates of the shipboard station of origin, the coastal station and the telegraph lines, the shipboard rate of each of the ships which have participated in the transmission.

From shore to ship
through another ship.

2. The sender of a radiogram proceeding from the coast and intended for a ship may require that his message be transmitted by way of one or two stations on shipboard; he shall deposit for this purpose an amount equal to the radio and telegraph rates and, in addition, a sum to be fixed by the office of origin, as surety for the payment to the intermediary shipboard stations of the transit rates fixed by paragraph 1. He shall further pay, at his option, either the rate for a telegram of five words or the price of the postage on a letter to be sent by the coastal station to the office of origin giving the necessary information for the liquidation of the amounts deposited.

The radiogram shall then be accepted at the sender's risk; it shall show before the address the prepaid instruction, to wit: "X retransmissions telegraph" or "X retransmissions letter" according to whether the sender desired the information necessary for the liquidation of the deposits to be furnished by telegraph or by letter.

From ship to ship
through shore.

3. The rate for radiograms proceeding from a ship intended for another ship, and forwarded through one or two intermediary coastal stations, shall comprise:

The shipboard rates of the two ships, the coastal rate of the coastal station or two coastal stations, as the case may be, and the telegraph rate, when necessary, applicable to the transmission between the two coastal stations.

From ship to ship.

4. The rate for radiograms exchanged between ships without the intervention of a coastal station shall comprise the shipboard rates of the vessels of origin and destination together with the shipboard rates of the intermediary stations.

Receiving and sending charges to be the
same.

5. The coastal and shipboard rates accruing to the stations of transit shall be the same as those fixed for such stations when they are stations of origin or destination. In no case shall they be collected more than once.

Intermediate service.

6. In the case of every coastal station acting as intermediary, the rate to be collected for the service of transit shall be the highest coastal rate applicable to direct communication with the two ships concerned.

ARTICLE XVIII.

Telegraph intermediate service.

The country within whose territory a coastal station is established which serves as intermediary for the exchange of radiograms between a station on board ship and another country shall be considered, so far as the application of telegraph rates is concerned, as the country of origin or of destination of such radiograms, and not as the country of transit.

Collection of charges.

5. COLLECTION OF CHARGES.

ARTICLE XIX.

From sender.

The total charge for radiograms shall be collected of the sender, with the exception of:

Exceptions.

(1) Charges for special delivery (Art. LVIII, Par. 1, of the Telegraph Regulations); (2) Charges applicable to inadmissible combinations or alterations of words noted by the office or station of destination (Art. XIX, par. 9 of the Telegraph Regulations) such charges being collected of the addressee.

Stations on shipboard shall to that end have the necessary tariffs. They shall be at liberty, however, to obtain information from coastal stations on the subject of rates for radiograms for which they do not possess all the necessary data.

2. The counting of words by the office of origin shall be conclusive in the case of radiograms intended for ships and that of the shipboard station of origin shall be conclusive in the case of radiograms proceeding from ships, both for purposes of transmission and of the international accounts. However, when the radiogram is worded wholly or in part, either in one of the languages of the country of destination, in the case of radiograms proceeding from ships, or in one of the languages of the country to which the ship is subject, in the case of radiograms intended for ships, and contains combinations or alterations of words contrary to the usage of such language, the bureau or shipboard station of destination, as the case may be, shall have the right to recover from the addressee the amount of charge not collected. In case of refusal to pay, the radiogram may be withheld.

Computation.

6. TRANSMISSION OF RADIOGRAMS.

Transmission of radiograms.

(A) SIGNALS OF TRANSMISSION.

Signals.

ARTICLE XX.

The signals to be employed are those of the Morse International Code.

Morse International Code.

ARTICLE XXI.

Ships in distress shall use the following signal:

Distress call.

repeated at brief intervals, followed by the necessary particulars.

As soon as a station hears the signal of distress it shall cease all correspondence and not resume it until after it has made sure that the correspondence to which the call for assistance has given rise is terminated.

Immediate attention, etc.

Stations which hear a signal of distress shall conform to the instructions given by the ship making such signal as regards the order of the messages or their cessation.

In case the call letters of a particular station are added at the end of the series of calls for assistance, the answer to the call shall be incumbent upon that station alone unless such station fails to reply. If the call for assistance does not specify any particular station, every station hearing such call shall be bound to answer it.

ARTICLE XXII.

For the purpose of giving or requesting information concerning the radio service, stations shall make use of the signals contained in the list appended to the present Regulations.

Arbitrary signals.
Post, p. 1738.

(B) ORDER OF TRANSMISSION.

Order of transmission.

ARTICLE XXIII.

Between two stations radiograms of the same order shall be transmitted one by one, by the two stations alternately, or in series of several radiograms, as the coastal station may indicate, provided the duration of the transmission of each series does not exceed fifteen minutes.

Alternately or serially.

(C) METHOD OF CALLING RADIO STATIONS AND TRANSMISSION OF RADIOGRAMS.

Method of calling and transmitting.

ARTICLE XXIV.

1. As a general rule, it shall be the shipboard station that calls the coastal station whether it has radiograms to transmit or not.

General rule.

- In heavy traffic waters. 2. In waters where the radio traffic is very great (British Channel, etc.), a coastal station should not, as a general rule, be called by a shipboard station unless the former is within normal range of the shipboard station and not until the distance of the vessel from the coastal station is less than 75 per cent of the normal range of the latter.
- Adjustment of apparatus. 3. Before proceeding to call, the coastal station or the station on shipboard shall adjust its receiving apparatus to its maximum sensibility and make sure that no other correspondence is being carried on within its radius of action; if it finds otherwise, it shall wait for the first pause, unless it is convinced that its call will not be likely to disturb the correspondence in progress. The same applies in case the station desires to answer a call.
- Wave to be used. 4. For calling, every station shall use the normal wave of the station it wishes to call.
- Interruptions. 5. If in spite of these precautions the transmission of a radiogram is impeded at any place, the call shall cease upon the first request from a coastal station open to public correspondence. The latter station shall in such case indicate the approximate length of time it will be necessary to wait.
- Notice of intent to cease. 6. The station on shipboard shall make known to every coastal station to which it has signaled its presence the moment at which it proposes to cease its operations and the probable duration of the interruption.

ARTICLE XXV.

Call signal.

1. The call shall comprise the signal the call letters of the station called transmitted three times, the word "from" (de) followed by the call letters of the sending station transmitted three times.

— • — • — ,

Answer signal.

2. The called station shall answer by making the signal

— • — • — ,

followed by the call letters of the corresponding station transmitted three times, the word "from," its own call letters, and the signal

— • — .

General call.

3. Stations desiring to enter into communication with ships, without, however, knowing the names of the ships within their radius of action, may employ the signal — • — • — • — • — (signal of inquiry). The provisions of paragraphs 1 and 2 are likewise applicable to the transmission of a signal of inquiry and to the answer to such signal.

ARTICLE XXVI.

Calls not answered.

If a station called does not answer the call (Article XXV) transmitted three times at intervals of two minutes, the call shall not be resumed until after an interval of fifteen minutes, the station issuing the call having first made sure of the fact that no radio correspondence is in progress.

ARTICLE XXVII.

High power messages.

Every station which has occasion to transmit a radiogram requiring the use of high power shall first send out three times the signal of warning — • — • — • — , with the minimum of power necessary to reach the neighboring stations. It shall not begin to transmit with high power until 30 seconds after sending the signal of warning.

ARTICLE XXVII.

1. As soon as the coastal station has answered, the shipboard station shall furnish it with the following data in case it has messages to transmit; such data shall likewise be furnished upon request from the coastal station:

(a) The approximate distance, in nautical miles, of the vessel from the coastal station;

(b) The position of the vessel indicated in a concise form and adapted to the circumstances of the case;

(c) Her next port of call;

(d) The number of radiograms, if they are of normal length, or the number of words, if the messages are unusually long.

The speed of the ship in nautical miles shall also be given if specially requested by the coastal station.

2. The coastal station shall answer stating, as provided in paragraph 1, either the number of radiograms or the number of words to be transmitted to the ship, and also the order of transmission.

3. If the transmission can not take place immediately, the coastal station shall inform the station on shipboard of the approximate length of time that it will be necessary to wait. Delayed service.

4. If a shipboard station called can not receive for the moment, it shall inform the station calling of the approximate length of time that it will be necessary to wait.

5. In the exchange of messages between two stations on shipboard, it shall fall to the station called to fix the order of transmission. Exchange.

ARTICLE XXIX.

When a coastal station receives calls from several shipboard stations, it shall decide the order in which such stations shall be admitted to exchange their messages.

In fixing this order the coastal station shall be guided exclusively by the necessity of permitting each station concerned to exchange the greatest possible number of radiograms.

ARTICLE XXX.

Before beginning the exchange of correspondence the coastal station shall advise the shipboard station whether the transmission is to be effected in the alternate order or by series (Article XXIII); it shall then begin the transmission or follow up the preliminaries with the signal

_____ • _____ •

ARTICLE XXXI.

The transmission of the radiogram shall be preceded by the signal Transmitting mesage.
 and terminated by the signal followed by the name of the sending station and by the signal

In the case of a series of radiograms, the name of the sending station and the signal — • — shall only be given at the end of the series.

ARTICLE XXXII.

When a radiogram to be transmitted contains more than 40 words, the sending station shall interrupt the transmission by the signal • • — — — • • after each series of about 20 words and shall not resume it until after it has obtained from the receiving station a repetition of the last word duly received, followed by the said signal, or, if the reception is good, by the signal — • — .

Series messages.

In the case of transmission by series, acknowledgment of receipt shall be made after each radiogram.

Intermission required.

Coastal stations engaged in the transmission of long radiograms shall suspend the transmission at the end of each period of 15 minutes, and remain silent for a period of three minutes before resuming the transmission.

Coastal and shipboard stations working under the conditions specified in Article XXXV, par. 2, shall suspend work at the end of each period of 15 minutes and listen in with a wave length of 600 meters during a period of three minutes before resuming the transmission.

ARTICLE XXXIII.

Doubtful signals.

1. When the signals become doubtful every possible means shall be resorted to to finish the transmission. To this end the radiogram shall be transmitted three times at most at the request of the receiving station. If in spite of such triple repetition the signals are still unreadable the radiogram shall be cancelled.

Acknowledgment of receipt.

If no acknowledgment of receipt is received the transmitting station shall again call up the receiving station. If no reply is made after three calls the transmission shall not be followed up any further. In such case the sending station shall have the privilege of obtaining the acknowledgment of receipt through the medium of another radio station, using, when necessary, the lines of the telegraph system.

Forwarding doubtful messages.

2. If in the opinion of the receiving station the radiogram, although imperfectly received, is nevertheless capable of transmission, said station shall enter the words "reception doubtful" at the end of the preamble and let the radiogram follow. In such case the management of the radio service of the country to which the coastal station is subject shall claim the charges in conformity with Article XLII of the present Regulations. If, however, the shipboard station subsequently transmits the radiogram to another coastal station of the same management, the latter can claim only the rates applicable to a single transmission.

Post, p. 1731.

Acknowledging receipt and ending.

(D) ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF RECEIPT AND CONCLUSION OF WORK.

ARTICLE XXXIV.

Form of receipt.

1. Receipt shall be acknowledged in the form prescribed by the International Telegraph Regulations; it shall be preceded by the call letters of the transmitting station and followed by those of the receiving station.

Conclusion signal.

2. The conclusion of a correspondence between two stations shall be indicated by each of the two stations by means of the signal followed by its own call letters.

• • • — • —

Directions for sending.

(E) DIRECTIONS TO BE FOLLOWED IN SENDING RADIOGRAMS.

ARTICLE XXXV.

From shipboard stations.

1. In general, the shipboard stations shall transmit their radiograms to the nearest coastal station.

Nevertheless, if a shipboard station has the choice between several coastal stations at equal or nearly equal distances, it shall give the preference to the one established on the territory of the country of destination or normal transit for its radiograms.

2. A sender on board a vessel shall, however, have the right to designate the coastal station through which he desires to have his radiogram transmitted. The station on shipboard shall then wait until such coastal station shall be the nearest.

In exceptional cases transmission may be made to a more distant coastal station, provided that:

Exceptional cases.

(a) The radiogram is intended for the country in which such coastal station is situated and emanates from a ship subject to that country;

(b) Both stations use for calling and transmission a wave length of 1,800 meters;

(c) Transmission with this wave length does not interfere with a transmission made by means of the same wave length by a nearer coastal station;

(d) The station on shipboard is more than 50 nautical miles distant from any coastal station given in the list. The distance of 50 miles may be reduced to 25 miles provided the maximum power at the terminals of the generator does not exceed 5 kilowatts and that the stations on shipboard are established in conformity with Articles VII and VIII. This reduction in the distance shall not be admissible in the seas, bays or gulfs of which the shores belong to one country only and of which the opening to the high sea is less than 100 miles wide.

7. DELIVERY OF RADIOGRAMS AT THEIR DESTINATION.

Delivery of messages.

ARTICLE XXXVI.

When for any cause whatever a radiogram proceeding from a vessel at sea and intended for the coast can not be delivered to the addressee, a notice of nondelivery shall be issued. Such notice shall be transmitted to the coastal station which received the original radiogram. The latter, after verifying the address, shall forward the notice to the ship, if possible, by the intervention, if need be, of another coastal station of the same country or of a neighboring country.

Notice of nondelivery.

When a radiogram received by a shipboard station can not be delivered, the station shall notify the office of the origin by official notice. In the case of radiograms emanating from the coast, such notice shall be transmitted, whenever practicable, to the coastal station through which the radiogram has passed in transit; otherwise, to another coastal station of the same country or of a neighboring country.

ARTICLE XXXVII.

If the ship for which a radiogram is intended has not signalled her presence to the coastal station within the period designated by the sender, or, in the absence of such designation, by the morning of the 8th day following, the coastal station shall so notify the office of origin which shall in turn inform the sender.

Messages for ships not signalling.

The latter shall have the right to ask, by a paid official notice, sent by either telegraph or mail and addressed to the coastal station, that his radiogram be held for a further period of 9 days for transmission to the vessel, and so on. In the absence of such request, the radiogram shall be put aside as not transmissible at the end of the 9th day (exclusive of the day of posting).

Nevertheless, if the coastal station is certain that the vessel has left its radius of action before it has been able to transmit the radiogram to her, such station shall immediately so notify the office of origin which shall without delay inform the sender of the cancellation of the message. The sender may, however, by a paid official notice, request the coastal station to transmit the radiogram the next time the vessel shall pass.

Special radiograms.

8. SPECIAL RADIOGRAMS.

ARTICLE XXXVIII.

Limitations.

The following radiograms only shall be accepted for transmission:

(1) Radiograms with answer prepaid. Such radiograms shall show before the address the indication "Answer prepaid" or "R P" supplemented by a statement of the amount paid in advance for the answer, thus: "Response Payee fr. x", or "R P fr. x";

The reply voucher issued by a station on shipboard shall carry with it the right to send, within the limits of its value, a radiogram to any destination whatever from the station on shipboard which has issued such voucher.

(2) Radiograms calling for repetition of message (for purposes of verification);

(3) Special delivery radiograms. Only, however, in cases where the amount of the charges for special delivery collected of the addressee. Countries which can not accept such radiograms shall make a declaration to this effect to the International Bureau. Special delivery radiograms with charges collected of the sender may be accepted when they are intended for the country within whose territory the corresponding station is located.

(4) Radiograms to be delivered by mail;

(5) Multiple radiograms;

(6) Radiograms calling for acknowledgment of receipt. But only as regards notification of the date and hour at which the coastal station shall have transmitted to the station on shipboard the radiogram addressed to the latter.

(7) Paid service notices. Except those requesting a repetition or information. Nevertheless all paid service notices shall be accepted in transmission over the telegraph lines.

(8) Urgent radiograms. But only in transmission over the telegraph lines and subject to the application of the International Telegraph Regulations.

ARTICLE XXXIX.

To be forwarded by mail.

Radiograms may be transmitted by a coastal station to a ship, or by a ship to another ship, with a view to being forwarded by mail from a port of call of the ship receiving the radiogram.

Such radiogram shall not be entitled to any radio retransmission.

The address of such radiogram shall embrace the following:

(1) The paid designation "mail" followed by the name of the port at which the radiogram is to be mailed;

(2) The name and complete address of the addressee;

(3) The name of the station on shipboard by which the radiogram is to be mailed;

(4) When necessary, the name of the coastal station.

Example: Mail Buenosaires 14 Calle Prat Valparaiso Avon Lizard.

The rate shall comprise, in addition to the radio and telegraph rates, a sum of 25 centimes (.048 cents) for the postage on the radiogram.

ARTICLE XL.

Retention of originals.

The originals of radiograms together with the documents relating thereto retained by the managements of the radio service shall be kept, with all the necessary precautions as regards secrecy, for a period of at least fifteen months beginning with the month following that of the posting of the radiogram.

Such originals and documents shall, as far as practicable, be sent at least once a month by the shipboard stations to the management of the radio service to which they are subject.

Transmission to management.

10. REBATES AND REIMBURSEMENTS.

Rebates and reimbursements.

ARTICLE XLII.

1. With regard to rebates and reimbursements, the International Telegraph Regulations shall be applicable, taking into account the restrictions specified in Article XXXVIII and XXXIX of the present Regulations and subject to the following reservations:

Telegraph regulations applicable.

The time employed in the transmission of radiograms and the time that radiograms remain in a coastal station in the case of radiograms intended for ships, or in the station on shipboard in the case of radiograms proceeding from ships, shall not be counted as delays as regards rebates or reimbursements.

Reservations.

If the coastal station notifies the office of origin that a radiogram can not be transmitted to the ship addressed, the management of the radio service of the country of origin shall immediately instigate reimbursement to the sender of the coastal and shipboard rates relating to the radiogram. In such case, the refunded charges shall not enter into the accounts provided for by Article XLII, but the radiogram shall be mentioned therein as a memorandum.

Reimbursements shall be borne by the different managements of the radio service and private enterprises which have taken part in the transmission of the radiogram, each management or private enterprise relinquishing its share of the rate. Radiograms to which Articles 7 and 8 of the Convention of St. Petersburg are applicable shall remain subject, however, to the provisions of the International Telegraph Regulations, except when the acceptance of such radiograms is the result of an error made by the telegraph service.

Foot, p. 1740.

2. When the acknowledgment of receipt of a radiogram has not reached the station which has transmitted the message, the charges shall be refunded only if the fact has been established that the radiogram is entitled to reimbursement.

Messages not received.

11. ACCOUNTS AND PAYMENT OF CHARGES.

Accounts.

1. The coastal and shipboard charges shall not enter into the accounts provided for by the International Telegraph Regulations.

Coastal and shipboard charges.

The accounts regarding such charges shall be liquidated by the managements of the radio service of the countries concerned. They shall be drawn up by the radio managements to which the coastal stations are subject, and communicated by them to the radio managements concerned. In cases where the working of the coastal stations is independent of the management of the radio service of the country, the party working such stations may be substituted, as regards the accounts, for the radio management of such country.

2. For transmission over the telegraph lines radiograms shall be treated, so far as the payment of rates is concerned, in conformity with the International Telegraph Regulations.

Telegraph transmission.

3. For radiograms proceeding from ships, the radio management to which the coastal station is subject shall charge the radio management to which the shipboard station of origin is subject with the coastal and ordinary telegraph rates, the total charges collected for answers prepaid, the coastal and telegraph rates collected for repetition of message (for purposes of verification), charges relating to special delivery (in the case provided for in Article XXXVIII), or delivery by mail, and those collected for additional copies (TM). The radio management to which the coastal station is subject shall credit, when the case arises, through the channel of the telegraph accounts and through the medium of the offices which have participated in the transmission of the radiograms, the radio management to which the office of destination is subject with the total charges relating to answers prepaid. With respect to the telegraph rates and the charges relating to special delivery or delivery by mail, and to additional copies, the procedure shall be as prescribed in the Telegraph Regulations, the coastal station being considered as the telegraph office of origin.

Messages from ships.

For other countries. For radiograms intended for a country lying beyond the country to which the coastal station belongs, the telegraph charges to be liquidated in conformity with the above provisions shall be those which result either from tables "A" and "B" annexed to the International Telegraph Regulations, or from special arrangements concluded between the radio managements of adjacent countries and published by such managements, and not the charges which might be collected in accordance with the special provisions of Articles XXIII, par. 1, and XXVII, par. 1, of the Telegraph Regulations.

Messages to ships. For radiograms and paid service notices intended for ships, the radio management to which the office of origin is subject shall be charged directly by that to which the coastal station is subject with the coastal and shipboard rates. However, the total charges relating to answers prepaid shall be credited, if there is occasion, from country to country, through the channel of the telegraph accounts, until they reach the radio management to which the coastal station is subject. As regards the telegraph charges and the charges relating to delivery by mail and additional copies, the procedure shall be as prescribed in the Telegraph Regulations. The radio management to which the coastal station is subject shall credit that to which the ship of destination is subject with the shipboard rate, if there is occasion, with the rates accruing to the intermediary shipboard stations, the total charge collected for answers prepaid, the shipboard rates for repetition of message (for purposes of verification), and the charges collected for the preparation of additional copies and for delivery by mail.

Paid service notices and answers prepaid shall be treated in the radio accounts in all respects the same as other radiograms.

Through intermediary ships. For radiograms transmitted by means of one or two intermediary stations on shipboard, each one of such stations shall charge the shipboard station of origin, in the case of a radiogram proceeding from a ship, or that of destination, in the case of a radiogram intended for a ship, with the shipboard rate accruing to it for transit.

Between ships. 4. In general, the liquidation of accounts relating to correspondence between stations on shipboard shall be effected directly between the companies working such stations, the station of origin being charged by the station of destination.

Monthly accounts. 5. The monthly accounts serving as a basis for the special accounts of radiograms shall be made out for each radiogram separately with all the necessary data within a period of six months from the month to which they refer.

Special agreements. 6. The Governments reserve the right to enter into special agreements among themselves and with private companies (parties operating radio stations, shipping companies, etc.) with a view of adopting other provisions with regard to accounts.

12. INTERNATIONAL BUREAU.

International Bureau.

ARTICLE XLIII.

The additional expenses resulting from the work of the International Bureau so far as radio telegraphy is concerned shall not exceed 80,000 francs a year, exclusive of the special expenses arising from the convening of the International Conference.

Changes occurring and additional data shall be forwarded by the radio managements to the International Bureau between the 1st and 10th day of each month. With the aid of such data the International Bureau shall draw up the list provided for in Article V. The list shall be distributed to the radio managements concerned. The list and the supplements thereto may also be sold to the public at the cost price.

radiograms, the text of which shall not exceed 20 words, shall be transmitted to ships upon request. The rate for such meteorological radiograms shall be carried to the account of the ships to which they are addressed.

Shipboard service.

2. Meteorological observations made by certain vessels designated for this purpose by the country to which they are subject, may be transmitted once a day, as paid service notices, to the coastal stations authorized to receive the same by the managements concerned, who shall likewise designate the meteorological offices to which such observations shall be addressed by the coastal stations.

Transmission of time, etc., signals.

3. Time signals and meteorological radiograms shall be transmitted one after the other in such a way that the total time occupied in their transmission shall not exceed ten minutes. As a general rule, all radio stations whose transmissions might interfere with the reception of such signals and radiograms, shall remain silent during their transmission in order that all stations desiring it may be able to receive the same. Exception shall be made in cases of distress calls and of state telegrams.

Maritime information.

4. The managements of the radio service shall give to agencies of maritime information such data regarding losses and casualties at sea or other information of general interest to navigation, as the coastal stations may properly report.

Miscellaneous.

14. MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

ARTICLE XLVI.

Exchange between shipboard stations.

The exchange of correspondence between shipboard stations shall be carried on in such a manner as not to interfere with the service of the coastal stations, the latter, as a general rule, being accorded the right of priority for the public service.

ARTICLE XLVII.

Retransmission.

Coastal stations and stations on shipboard shall not be bound to participate in the retransmission of radiograms except in cases where direct communication cannot be established between the stations of origin and destination.

The number of such retransmissions shall, however, be limited to two.

In the case of radiograms intended for the coast, retransmission shall take place only for the purpose of reaching the nearest coastal station.

Retransmission shall in every case be subject to the condition that the intermediate station which receives the radiogram in transit is in a position to forward it.

ARTICLE XLVIII.

Messages through noncontracting countries.

If the route of a radiogram is partly over telegraph lines, or through radio stations subject to a non-contracting Government, such radiograms may be transmitted provided the management of the radio service to which such lines or stations are subject have declared that, if the occasion should arise, they will comply with such provisions of the Convention and of the Regulations as are indispensable to the regular transmission of radiograms and that the payment of charges is insured. Such declaration shall be made to the International Bureau and communicated to the offices of the Telegraph Union.

ARTICLE XLIX.

Modifications of the present regulations which may be rendered necessary in consequence of the decisions of subsequent Telegraph Conferences shall go into effect on the date fixed for the application of the provisions adopted by each one of such conferences.

Effect of modifications.

ARTICLE L.

The provisions of the International Telegraph Regulations shall be applicable analogously to radio correspondence in so far as they are not contrary to the provisions of the present regulations. The following provisions of the Telegraph Regulations, in particular, shall be applicable to radio correspondence: Article XXVII, paragraphs 3 to 6, relating to the collection of charges; Articles XXVI and XLI relating to the indication of the route to be followed; Article LXXV, paragraph 1, LXXVIII, paragraphs 2 to 4, and LXXIX, paragraphs 2 and 4, relating to the preparation of accounts. However:—(1) The period of six months provided by paragraph 2 of Article LXXIX of the Telegraph Regulations for the verification of accounts shall be extended to nine months in the case of radiograms; (2) The provisions of Article XVI, paragraph 2, shall not be considered as authorizing gratuitous transmission, through radio stations, of service telegrams relating exclusively to the telegraph service, nor the free transmission over the telegraph lines of service telegrams relating exclusively to the radio service; (3) The provisions of Article LXXIX, paragraphs 3 and 5, shall not be applicable to radio accounts. As regards the application of the provisions of the Telegraph Regulations, coastal stations shall be considered as offices of transit except when the Radio Regulations expressly stipulate that such stations shall be considered as offices of origin or of destination.

Application of International Telegraph Regulations. Specified provisions.

ARTICLE 8.

1. The parcels shall be considered as a component part of the mails exchanged direct between the United States and Greece, to be despatched to destination by the country of origin at its cost and by such means as it provides; but must be forwarded, at the option of the despatching office, either in boxes prepared expressly for the purpose or in ordinary mail sacks, marked "Parcel Post"

MEMORANDUM.

Arbitration Agreement between United States and Japan, signed June 28, 1913, extending the duration of the Arbitration Convention of May 5, 1908.

Taking effect of convention.

The Department of State acknowledges the receipt of the Memorandum of the Japanese Embassy, dated May 8, 1914, stating that:

"1. The Japanese Embassy construes Article I to mean that the Arbitration Convention of May 5, 1908, terminated at the end of the 23rd day of August, 1913, and that the term of its extension was to commence from the 24th day of the same month, that is, from after midnight of the aforesaid 23rd day.

2. Despite the provision in Article II to the effect that the Extension Agreement shall become effective upon the date of the exchange of ratifications, the United States Government proposes, according to the understanding of the Japanese Embassy, to render the Agreement retrospective in so far as to make it operative on and from August 24, 1913 as provided in Article I above referred to."

The Department of State concurs in the views of the Japanese Embassy, as stated above, regarding the termination of the Arbitration Convention of May 5, 1908, and the retroactivity of the Agreement signed June 28, 1913.
